This system certainly offers advantages unknown where credit obtains. Equitable alike to both buyer and seller, it is from its inception, and in its development, possessed of facilities and advantages which fairly command astonishment when contrasted with any results of credit system. A DIRECT SAVING OF 25 PER CENT. is no more hyperbole, but a fact seen and realised, and unhesitatingly guaranteed to every one of our patrons.

WOOLLENS.
A SPECIAL DISPLAY OF WOOLLENS for this season's trade. We are now showing a splendid assortment of Woollens for the winter, and solicit the favour of an inspection, for perhaps in no department are we better prepared than in this. The advance made in the manufacture of woollens have of late been very marked: the productions of the looms being quite in keeping with those of every other branch of commerce, and we are, consequently, to-day placed in possession of quality and elegance combined at an ECONOMICAL PRICE. We note some beautiful goods in coatings, trouserings, and vestings, which to describe would be impossible, for too much could not be said in favour of the makes now well known and reliable. In the shipment to hand we have Bliss' staff serges, Cheviot serges, worsted coatings, Bannockburns, Scotch tweeds, West of England suitings, &c., &c. We are making in our Pitt-street windows for a few days a SPECIAL DISPLAY of WOOLLENS.

APPEAL to the CHARITABLE PUBLIC on behalf of a large number of DESTITUTE PEOPLE in OTTAWA, CANADA.
Dear Friends,—We are about commencing a charitable work in your midst, and from the many accounts we have heard, nay, we may say witnessed, of the great charity of the people of Sydney, we feel that our appeal will not be in vain.
Many of you may have heard of the object of our work, as from time to time short accounts have appeared in the newspapers.
Hundreds of poor people are dependent on the success of our Australian Mission, and though we have passed through many arduous labours since our departure from our dear Convent home, we gladly and cheerfully embrace them in the assured hope that we will have your ready sympathy and help in the work which we are sure you will look upon as one of truly Christian charity.
Will you not then, good kind friends, each one contribute your mite to aid those poor sufferers, who, separated from you by the vast Atlantic, are still children of that great Father who has promised so "liberally to reward even the cup of cold water given in His name," you who are ever so ready, as the many great works of charity in this your own beautiful city can testify, to help the poor and suffering.
We may state, in conclusion, that we have the sanction of his Grace the Archbishop and the Very Rev. Dr. Sheridan, V.G., to collect in this diocese, and who, since our arrival here, have treated us with every consideration.
SISTER MARY AUGUSTINE.

EXPERIENCE TEACHES, or ought to do so, and those who have thus learned are doubly to blame if they do not profit by the lesson.
If you want a reliable article choose one that has stood the test of years; and in many cases you also have the advantage of getting the improvements which all articles of mechanism are subject to as time proves the advantage or disadvantage of any particular part.
These remarks apply with great force to the WILLCOX and GIBBS AUTOMATIC SILENT SEWING-MACHINE, with its recent wonderful improvement of the Self-regulating Tension.

STATIONERS' HALL.
Old folks tell us that "saving is making profit," but they did not live in the year 1883, when the tightness of the money market was enough to furrow up the glossy countenances of even our successful business men. Yet it's a long lane that has no turning, and an ill wind that blows no good; so, in the midst of all the perplexities of their business, or the weariness and monotony of their leisure, both men of business and men of leisure may find a respite and make a profit, by making their purchases of BOOKS and STATIONERY at FULLER'S Central Depot, Stationers' Hall, 385-7, George-street, Sydney.
The prices at this establishment are cut, as by a philanthropic hand, to suit the severity of the times.
Pens, ink, and paper, and all the thousand and one articles usually kept at a stationer's shop, will be found at Fuller's—cheaper than ever, and cheaper than ever.

M. PAUL DU CHAILLU, in his interesting book, "The Land of the Midnight Sun," says:—"My object in coming to S[illegible] was to visit Herr M—— (Peter Moller), a celebrated manufacturer of Cod-liver Oil, which enjoys such great and well-deserved reputation in the United States. . . . Several men were engaged in separating the good livers from the bad. All were fresh from fish caught that day. The fat and healthy livers were whitish, while the diseased ones were greenish, and the lean ones read. I was surprised to see the number of diseased and lean livers. The season for the best ones would soon be over, and it happens that the Cod arrive at Lofoten when their livers are in the finest condition. The men are very particular in selecting the choicest kinds. After they had been assorted, they were put into a large tank, washed thoroughly in warm water, and then placed over an open wire net to let the water drip away. I noticed that extreme care was taken in all stages of the preparation of the Oil. . . . The process has nothing of the repulsiveness of the method by which brown oil is usually made—namely, by letting the livers rot, skimming the oil, and afterwards boiling it."—Vol. II., p. 130.

OUR AMERICAN LETTER.

NEW YORK, APRIL 1.

The New York stock market at the present time is, as in the past, an admirable barometer of the general condition of the country. Ever since the 1st May it has remained in a state of almost complete stagnation. Prices have remained tolerably firm, owing to the fact that all the very wealthy men of Wall-street—Vanderbilt, Jay Gould, Russell Sage, and their following—have been holders of stocks. But the "outside public" has shown an obstinate disinclination to take a hand in the great game of speculation. While last year it was not unusual for half a million or more of shares to change hands in a day, the sales are now rarely more than a fourth of that. A broker's seat, which in October last was worth 33,000 dollars, is now selling at 26,000. Events of considerable importance, which usually serve as an excuse for an active market, pass by almost without a ripple of excitement. The adjournment of Congress, for example, and the consequent certainty that for nine months to come the meddlesome lawyers who legislate for us can do absolutely no more mischief—which in the past has always meant a rise of one or two per cent. on the entire list of securities—was scarcely perceptible in its effects. All this indicates a widespread feeling of doubt as to the future. The general volume of routine business remains very large, but no new enterprises of moment can be launched. Money for three weeks has stood at from 12 to 25 per cent. for call loans, owing mainly to the great drain from the East to the West at this season, but also in no small degree to the fact that capitalists of the more cautious sort have locked up their coffers, and will lend only a low percentage of its value on the very best of "gilt-edged" paper. There have been no great failures, but the pressure on the more feeble financiers cannot much longer be withstood. Prices of everything, except real estate, have been slowly but steadily falling for two years, and many holders of property have now reached the point where their own margin of investment has run out, and nothing remains but the prospect of being held for a deficiency in the highly possible event of a forced sale.

The more hopeful predict that we shall weather this storm, as we have so many others in the past two years. They say, and with truth, that the business of the country now rests upon a far surer basis of real wealth than at any previous period of its history. We are no longer heavily in debt to foreign bankers; our houses and lands, and the vast bulk of the dividend-paying railroads, belong to ourselves alone. Our stocks of every staple necessity are enormous, and we are abundantly supplied with the precious metals. Still the sensitive rich man of the hour cannot make up his mind which way the cat will jump. The supply of labour is undoubtedly in excess of the demand, and wages are gradually falling back. Perhaps the real cause of the present perplexed feeling is a sense of the absolute insecurity of the political situation. Each of the two great parties seems to be in its dotage, with no excuse in the way of distinctive principles for a longer lease of life. They both pretend to be in favour of the same things, and yet, no matter which one happens to be in power, the things they are both in favour of never become law in a hearty and earnest fashion. Take the matter of Civil Service reform, for example. There is no doubt that all over the country the people at large are resolved upon having the public service managed upon "business" methods; that is, places are no longer to be given away as mere political spoils, and sinecures are to be absolutely abolished. So plain is this that in recent elections both parties have, in their platforms, pledged themselves in the most solemnly binding phrases that can be made with English words to establish this reform. But both parties are really in the hands of professional politicians, who see in Civil Service reform their own ruin. They have therefore made it their special business to "keep the word of promise to the ear, but break it to the hope." The last Congress without regard to party passed a bill appointing a Civil Service Commission, endowed with what was supposed to be the power to sweep away all existing abuses and reorganise the system of place-holding. It is already an open secret that under the bill, the commission has no such power as was believed; and, in any case, this is of very little moment, because the commission has already put out a tentative announcement which proves beyond all doubt that it is a secret friend of the very abuse it was brought into being to destroy. It is plain that the very essence of a satisfactory reform would be a competitive examination—that is, if the fundamental evil of personal favouritism is to be abolished. But the commission now hint that they will probably determine in favour simply of a "pass examination." This will mean that the senator or congressman can still appoint his relatives and henchmen to places, but he will have to pay for their tuition for a month or so at a night school to ensure their proficiency in spelling words of three syllables and in the multiplication table. What citizen will educate his son for the public service when he knows that no matter how creditably the boy may pass the examination, his appointment will be, as now, a matter of favour? Men who are reformers in earnest, therefore, have already reconciled themselves to the fact that they are going to be cheated, and must begin all over again.

Both parties are guilty of the same insincerity in all other matters. The Democrats now seem likely to have a serious faction fight over the election of a Speaker to the next House. When they were last in power, their Speaker was Mr. Randall, a very able and good man, who served with general applause. But he is a protectionist, while the Democrats, who are freetraders of a more or less marked stripe, are in the majority, and say that therefore they should have a freetrade Speaker. Hitherto, in this matter of the tariff, the policy alike of Republicans and Democrats, but perhaps more especially of the latter, has been to regard it as purely a "local question." In a manufacturing district, the candidate is a prohibitory tariff man; in a great importing city, or the remote farming regions of the Far West, he is a freetrader. But there is scarcely an issue conceivable which is more emphatically national, and not local; and the inconvenience of being all things to all men crops out now and then, as at present, in a striking form.

The fact that neither party has the strength to put forward a vigorous policy, undoubtedly causes uneasiness in the minds of all men who have a regard either for their country or their pocket. We are drifting along somewhere, but whither we know not. The great railroad monopolists hold control of legislation for the moment by means of the lobby, and so far as their own interests go, affairs are guided by a definite purpose—a purpose which is a revival in an improved modern form of—

"The safe and simple plan;
That they should take who have the power,
And they should keep who can."

But vital as are the matters thus disposed of, there are many others which these gentlemen do not care to interfere with. Our foreign affairs ought to be managed with some degree of consistency, at least by Administrations of the same party. But this is not the case. Mr. Blaine, during his brief term of office, tried to establish an "American" policy, and was making a great deal of progress—in perhaps a mistaken, but none the less a popular direction—when Garfield was killed, and a lawyer-Secretary succeeded Mr. Blaine, who has since been actively engaged in undoing all that his fellow-Republican predecessor had done. It can readily be seen, too, that the progress of civilisation ought to be marked by a strengthening of the Federal Government sufficient to secure the homogeneity of our laws in regard to such matters as marriage, and the payment of debts and crime. Now, each State is absolutely independent of all the rest, and very curious results ensue. A man's wife may succeed in getting a divorce from him in New York, and the decree of the court may be that he shall not have liberty to marry again for five years. But while the words of the Judge are still warm, the man may cross over the river to New Jersey in 20 minutes, marry his co-respondent, return to his own home and instal the new wife in the place of the old, and the marriage will be absolutely valid, and the New York Court will be powerless to punish him. In the common interest of decency, such scandal should be no longer possible. It is the belief that the present lull is but the precursor of a vigorous agitation in behalf of changes in both our foreign and domestic affairs in some such lines as I have indicated, as well as a belief in the inevitable struggle between the "dangerously rich" and the mass of the people, that explains the curious mood of expectancy in which most people with money enough to make it worth their while to do a little thinking, seem to be plunged.

Material progress, however, pursues the even tenor of its way, at least, in the old channels. The marvellous revolution in business methods produced by the telephone threatens soon to be consummated. Last week, by means of more powerful batteries than have been hitherto employed, and by more perfect wire, conversations have been held with ease between New York and Chicago, a distance of 940 miles. Six months ago it was thought a great achievement when Boston and New York—200 miles apart—were thus connected. The present improvement seems to be more dependent upon the wire than upon the added power of the battery. The wire is a thin core of fine steel encased in a sheathing of copper. By a new discovery in the methods of telegraphing, too, it has been found to be perfectly practicable to send messages at the rate of 2000 words a minute—about four times faster than a man can talk. Thus the telephone and the telegraph are running a neck-and-neck rivalry, with the odds, however, greatly in favour of the former. The telephone people have hitherto paid no attention to getting all the business; they have simply been trying to make all the money they could, and thought it better to charge high rates, and trust to the public being willing to pay the price. Once the telephone began to be established in a few offices it became a necessity; people were not coaxed into becoming subscribers, but were forced to do the same as their neighbours. Dr. Bell, who was seven years ago a poor man of science, glad to earn 25 dollars for a night's lecture, or 5 dollars for an occasional item to the newspapers, is now worth no less than 6,000,000 dollars, and this does not take into account the value of his interest in the telephone in places where it has yet to be introduced.

The great social event of the season has been the Vanderbilt fancy dress ball, beyond all doubt the most splendid entertainment ever given in this country. It took place at the house of W. K. Vanderbilt, the second son of the reigning head of the house. Twelve hundred invitations were issued, but several thousand people were present. Twelve detectives mingled among the guests, and any unknown face was speedily "investigated." This was the more necessary, because threats were received that the occasion would be enlivened by a dynamite explosion, and the bitterness felt against the Vanderbilts among the fanatical Socialists in the German quarter is such that it was simply a matter of prudence to take all possible precautions. Less than a year ago an attempt was made to send to the Vanderbilt who was the author of the notorious phrase "the public be d——d," through the mails, an ingeniously constructed infernal machine. The ball was held, however, without interruption, and lasted all through the night, and has been talked of ever since, not only in New York, but all over the country. The talent of the Vanderbilts for making themselves needlessly offensive was strikingly displayed. Very much in the fashion of a European monarch, Mrs. Vanderbilt prescribed to the participants in certain planned dances the style and, practically, the cost of the costumes to be worn. Some few guests resented the impertinence and stayed away, but they were not greatly missed. In one set the dresses of the men each cost from 600 dollars upwards, and of the ladies 2000 dollars. The Vanderbilts themselves spent 65,000 dollars on the fete; 4000 dollars went for champagne; 7000 dollars for flowers; and so on, item after item. The industry of the reporters—aided, as is believed, by the vanity of the hosts, and the eagerness of the tradesmen to secure a notice in the papers—has furnished us with exact figures on which to base our envy. A careful computation shows that the total cost of the ball in dresses, &c., was 250,000 dollars, and that no less than 15,000,000 dollars worth of diamonds was present. And, of course, Truth and the Voice of the People and the rest of the labour papers (which are steadily increasing in number and circulation) have pointed out that the source of all this wealth was an enforced toll—they use the plain word "theft"—of so much on every barrel of flour and every pound of meat that the poor man buys with which to feed his family. Only a few days before this fete, the Socialists themselves gave a ball of a very different character in Gilmore's Garden. Ten thousand people were present, and, after listening to some very fiery speeches, danced all through the night. The police, however, shut off the supply of beer in the hall at the very minute of midnight—although, in defiance of the same early-closing law, the saloons in the neighbourhood of the Garden were kept open all through the night to supply the "Reformers." Great capital has been made out of this; but the fact simply was, not that the police acted in pursuance of orders from the higher powers of the Government, but that the outside saloon-keepers bribed them to close the inside bars.

After nearly nine years' trial, the local Compulsory Education Act shows some very satisfactory results. This is in spite of great disadvantages. To begin with, the law itself simply enacts that all children who are not regularly instructed at home shall attend some school at least fourteen weeks in the year. And, then, the means of enforcing even this moderate requirement are very inadequate, consisting merely of the haphazard rambles of a few truancy inspectors through the city, who pick up and investigate any likely case. But the School Board has done the very best in its power to make the most of the law, such as it is; and the consequence is that in the last five years, in spite of an increase of 30 per cent. in the population of the city from what it was in 1870, the number of children arrested and committed for legal offences in the police courts has decreased to 4341 from 6105 for the last five years preceding the enactment of the law—that is, 1869-1874. At the old rate there ought to have been 8000 arrests; as matter of fact, there is only a little more than half that. Some other statistics of our schools may be of interest. With a population of 1,250,000, we have 298 schools, with 188,511 enrolled pupils, an average attendance of 138,239, and 3544 teachers. The board make one suggestion which is worth notice, although there is no prospect of its speedy adoption. This is that there should be three special schools established into which non-attendants and habitual truants could be brought and sifted, and, as it were, "sorted." Those who, gave proof of amendment by good conduct and regular attendance for three months should be transferred to the regular public schools, while those who, after six months' trial, proved incorrigible, should be sent to a supplementary reformatory school. Such a system might save many a waif of the streets from drifting into a life of crime or vagabondage.

The steady and constant increase of the meat exporting business from this country to Europe has stimulated the investment of an enormous amount of home and foreign capital in the "ranch" business. It is estimated that within the last three years no less than £6,000,000 sterling has been brought from England for this purpose. Native Americans have, of course, not been slow to avail themselves of this rise of this great business, and there are probably scarcely any lines of enterprise in which there have been so many successes and so few failures. In ten years, within the personal knowledge of the writer, two young Bostonians, with a joint capital of 50,000 dollars, have become the owners of 60,000 head of cattle in Wyoming Territory, representing, with improvements on the land, a million and a-half of dollars. It is, of course, the same business practically as the raising of cattle in South America and in Australia, but with the great difference that here the great hazard of the venture is from exposure to cold, instead of the possibility of drought. The American cattle-raisers had at the beginning three other dangers to contend with besides the climate—the Indians, the white thieves and outlaws of the border, and the possible introduction of contagious disease. In most districts the American genius for joint action has vanquished all three of these; and cattle-growers' associations have been organised, which have established patrols against white and red thieves, and inspectors to board every train, and examine every head of cattle imported into the country. Careful estimates show that for years to come there is absolutely no danger of the business being overdone. There are now about 40,000,000 head of cattle in the United States, and the market is so brisk, and the demand in our own country and from England so constant, for beefsteaks, that the possible natural increase over consumption will be very small. It is proposed, by the way, that the national Government should establish a sort of sanitary police to prevent the exportation of diseased cattle to Europe. At present England puts this country into the "schedule" of lands from which disease may be imported, and this, it is computed, results in an average loss of 2 cents per pound in all the meat we sell. Could this distinction be abolished, as it is hoped it hoped it might be, if the American Government vigorously prevented the sale of any but sound cattle, there would be a saving on the present export of about 6,000,000 dollars per annum. But the sanitary police would cost 2,000,000, and unless we secured the favourable action of the foreign Government, this would be absolutely lost. It is hardly likely, therefore, that Congress will pass such a measure, except after a good deal of hesitation and reluctance.

Theatrical matters since the close of Lent have been very brisk. Colonel Mapleson is doing admirably at the Academy; he is giving us no new operas, but people seem willing to pay high prices to see the old. At Daly's a farce from the German, bearing the strange title "7-20-8" has had a very great success. The numbers represent the place in a catalogue of a portrait of a lady and dog, and an English lord, who is a fanatical admirer of dogs, sends an agent forth to discover the whereabouts of the animal. The agent thinks it is the lady whom his employer is in search of. The succeeding situations may be imagined. Wallack's is still running "The Silver King;" not with very full houses, however. The old Wallack's has been again re-christened, and is now known as The Star. Mr. Boucicault is now playing there in "Vice Versa," a piece of his own—one of the failures. "Young Mrs. Winthrop" is still at the Madison Square, and a "Parisian Romance" at the Union Square. There has been a great revival of "Never too Late to Mend" at Booth's. This will run to the 1st May, and on that date the theatre will be take possession of by a drygoods firm and given over to the service of vulgar trade. The variety houses, of course, are all doing well, and are increasing constantly in number.

DEPUTATION.

THE PATENT LAW.

A deputation of members of the Patent Act Reform Committee, and consisting of Mr. Murray, M.L.A., President of the Institute of Surveyors; Mr. Parrott, Vice-President of the Institute of Surveyors; Mr. Owen Blacket, President of the Engineering Association of New South Wales; Mr. Norman Selfe, of the Technical College; Mr. T. Rowe and Mr. R. Kuntsman, representing the Architects' Association; Mr. Knapp, hon. sec. to the committee; Mr. Webb, patent agent; Mr. Garrard, M.L.A., and Mr. Ferguson, M.L.A., waited upon the Colonial Treasurer (the Hon. G. R. Dibbs) and the Minister for Justice (Hon. H. E. Cohen) at the Treasury yesterday, to advocate an amendment of the law relating to patents in such a way as to simplify the method and reduce the cost of procuring patents in the colony.

Mr. MURRAY introduced the deputation, and laid before the Ministers copies of a bill which the Patent Act Reform committee had prepared. The deputation did not wish to bind the Government to every provision in this bill, but trusted that its salient points would be adhered to by them when introducing a measure upon the subject in Parliament.

Mr. KNAPP said that at a meeting of a conference called on the 26th of June last, to consider the best means to be adopted for the purpose of amending the patent law in New South Wales, at which meeting the following gentlemen were present—Messrs. G. Dowse, J. J. Cohen, E. V. Cracknell, W. Crispin, J. Sands, Thomas Howieson, E. I. Thorpe, J. Wright, W. E. H. Nicolle, Owen Blacket, T. E. Parrott, R. L. Murray, M.L.A., J. Strcom, Edward J. E. Knapp, J. D. Stewart, Henry Crockett, W. Reyburn, Enos Dyer, and F. B. Gipps—it was proposed by Mr. Parrott, seconded by Mr. Howieson, and unanimously carried,—"That a sub-committee be formed, to consist of one member from each of the bodies represented at this conference, the duties of the sub-committee to be to gather from the mass of evidence that is already available, and material to form the basis of a new patent law, and that this sub-committee shall place before the general conference with any report they may deem necessary, and which shall be dealt with in detail by the conference." The associations represented were—1, Institute of Surveyors; 2, Engineering Association of New South Wales; 3, Marine Engineers; 4, Trades and Labour Council; 5, Builders and Contractors' Association; 6, Technical College; 7, Architects' Association. After careful consideration of the patent laws of the United States, Victoria, New Zealand, South Australia, Queensland, and New South Wales, the sub-committee elaborated the proposed new bill now handed to the Ministers. The sub-committee believe that this bill embodied features which would be peculiarly adapted to New South Wales. It would simplify and reduce the cost of procuring patents in the colony, and had been framed with these object of facilitating the application for patents and the protection of patentees. It was not expected that our legislators would pass the bill in its entirety, but the salient points embodied therein would doubtless commend themselves to the favourable consideration of members of Parliament.

Mr. PARROTT drew attention to the advantages that accrued to a country possessing liberal patent laws, and pointed out that since the introduction of a good law in Great Britain, and a similar law in America, inventors had not only been protected but inventions had been fostered, and the result had been very beneficial to the people in improvements in machinery and other things.

Mr. BLACKET said that the bill now laid before the Ministers had been prepared from the best sections of the various Acts in force in different parts of the world.

Mr. ROWE said that an experience of 25 years had shown him that the Act in existence in this colony was so cumbersome as to be positively prejudicial to inventors, and he knew from his own experience of many instances where useful inventions would have been patented if the inventor had been protected during the time they were perfecting their work.

Mr. GARRARD said a bill upon this subject was before Parliament some years ago, and he had been the cause of having elaborate returns with reference to the working of the present Patent Act laid on the table. He hoped that the Government would take the labour of this committee into consideration, because he knew that a majority of the committee were thoroughly practical men who had given a great deal of time and brought a large amount of experience to bear in the preparation of this bill.

Mr. DIBBS said that the Government were quite alive to the importance of assisting in every possible way to protect inventions if they were for the benefit of the public. Inventors were generally enthusiasts, and in working out their schemes to a practical result they frequently involved themselves in poverty, and a man with an exceedingly valuable invention might spend many years of his life in perfecting his work, and then after having been run down to starvation point become the victim of any person who was willing to take him up. He therefore agreed, as they all agreed, that there should be some change, so that a man might possess the right to protect his invention; and that an inventor should be able to do this at a minimum cost they all agreed also. We, in this colony, had no wish to be behind the world in this matter, and we had every disposition to follow those who could lead us. His colleague, Mr. Cohen, would no doubt see if he could not draft something from the material in the bill now handed to them and from other materials, a patent law such as was required. They would endeavour to cheapen matters to the inventor until he had got over his difficulties. First of all a man's invention should be secured to him, and then the cost attending the patenting his invention should be such as to make it unnecessary for him to put the invention into the hands of persons who drive hard terms, or for the public to lose the advantage arising from the invention. There were certain other measures—such as the Land Bill—which must take priority in Parliament next session, but if these measures were satisfactorily disposed of the Government would introduce a Patent Bill.

Mr. COHEN sympathised with the object of the deputation and concurred in the remarks made by Mr. Dibbs. So far as the Government were concerned they would do their best to carry out the object put before them by the deputation. The matter was one which affected not only patentees but also the public. There was a national object in view—to encourage invention in the colony.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—TUESDAY, MAY 8.

SECOND TERM, 1883.

RE THE ESTATE OF WM. SABINE, DECEASED.

This was an insolvency appeal. William Sabine died intestate, 29th March, and on 5th May an order under sec. 2, of 11 Vic., No. 24, was made, authorising the Curator of Intestate Estates to manage and administer the estate. The section provides that the order "shall give to the Curator of Intestate Estates the same power over the personal estate of the deceased person except as hereby enacted as he would have had if letters of administration of such personal estate had been granted to the said officer, subject nevertheless to any order or orders which may from time to time be made by the said Court touching the said estate on the collection, management, or administration thereof." The estate being insolvent, an application was made by the curator to have the estate sequestrated. His Honor the Chief Commissioner refused to order the sequestration, on the ground that the curator was not "a person legally vested with the administration of the estate of any person deceased" within the meaning of section 4 of the Insolvent Act (5 Vict., No. 17), he only being the officer of the Court.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Mr. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Bradley and Son, appeared in support of the appeal. No counsel appeared to argue on the other side.

The Court allowed the appeal.

By the order the curator was legally vested with the administration within the meaning of section 4 of the Insolvency Act. The curator who had had this power conferred on him was the person in whom the estate of the intestate was legally vested, unless there were some other words in the Act which interfered with that construction. It was the Commissioner's opinion that the latter part of the section which reserves to the Court power to make orders from time to time was opposed to such an interpretation; but these powers may be exercised notwithstanding the estate had been placed under sequestration. The Insolvent Court has power to deal with certain fraudulent alienations which other courts cannot reach. No doubt other courts can act in the cases provided for by the 6th and 8th sections; but there are other cases in which the estate must be sequestrated in order to reach the transaction.

Appeal allowed, with costs to be first charged on the first assets of the estate.

DEVINE V. SORRENSON.

This case was struck out, the parties not appearing.

RE KISS AND BUCKLEY'S ARBITRATION.

This was a motion to make absolute a rule nisi granted March 2, to set aside the award of 29th December, 1882. Dr. Sly appeared for the respondent; no counsel appeared to move.

Rule discharged.

EX PARTE THOMAS.

This was a motion for a prohibition to a Court of Petty Sessions. The plaint alleged that George Shultz claimed damages from the applicant for the slander of his daughter. The magistrates inflicted a fine.

Dr. Sly appeared for the applicant to make a rule absolute for a prohibition, on the grounds that the justices had no jurisdiction to entertain the matter complained of, as no cause of action known to the law was alleged in the plaint or proved by evidence; and also because the complainant, being deaf, had not heard the evidence given against him.

The COURT made the rule absolute on both grounds, with costs.

EX PARTE SMITH RE HENDERSON.

This was an application to make absolute a rule nisi calling upon Henderson to show cause why he should not be ousted from the office of alderman of the municipality of Alexandria.

Mr. Foster, instructed by Mr. T. M. Williamson, appeared for the applicant; Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Dr. Sly, instructed by Messrs. Pigott and Trickett, for the defendant.

By section 70 of the Municipalities Act it is enacted that the "voting" at every contested election of aldermen "shall commence at 8 o'clock in the forenoon, and shall finally close at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day." It appeared that at the election in question the doors of the polling place were closed at 3 o'clock, but some voters, to the number of 40, who were then in the room, were allowed to give their votes after the time had expired; the voting was not over until 40 minutes past 3. Three aldermen were declared elected, the last of whom had a majority of 16 votes over the rejected candidate.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said that there was no doubt of any kind in the case. Voting was a term which everyone could understand, and which the returning officer could not have any doubt about, and the statute required that the voting should close at 3 o'clock. It did not matter that the people who voted were inside the doors when the time elapsed; the section did not direct that the doors should be closed, but that the voting should cease at 3 o'clock.

Sir GEORGE INNES concurred.

Rule absolute, with costs.

There were two other cases by the same applicant against the other aldermen, which practically were decided by the case argued.

Mr. Foster asked for costs also in these actions.

Mr. Darley, while admitting that the rules must be made absolute in these cases also, argued that as the applications were for rules to oust the aldermen, and were granted under section 99 of the Municipalities Act and were not rules in the nature of quo warranto, the applicant need not have obtained three separate rules, and therefore no costs ought to be allowed.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said that it was conceded that the facts were precisely the same in the two other cases as in the case now disposed of. Three aldermen were to be returned, and the voting, which was permitted after the statutory time, related not to one but all three, and the very same ground would invalidate them all. It is said that there was some difference because the returning officer presided at the meeting of one of the candidates. It was argued that the Court ought not to make the returning officer answerable for costs in the two other cases, on the ground that the three might have been argued together. He thought that the applications must be separate; in order to oust each individual a separate application must be made, but the affidavits were the same in all the cases, and the points of law the same, and the decision of one case against the respondent would cause the other two to take the hint and retire. It appeared to him, therefore, that it would be extremely hard to make the returning officer pay the three separate sets of costs.

Sir G. INNES concurred that the three applications could not be made in a joint application.

Rule absolute in these two cases, without costs.

GARDINER V. TREGASCIS.

This was an appeal upon the decision of Mr. District Court Judge Cansdell, at Dubbo, on 8th March.

The action was for slander, by alleging that the plaintiff and her daughter were prostitutes. The defence was a denial that the words had been spoken. No plea of justification was filed.

Verdict for the plaintiff.

Mr. Harris moved for a new trial, on the ground that his Honor had rejected evidence of the general character of the plaintiff, and also evidence of alleged acts of unchastity, in mitigation of damages.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said that he thought the Judge was wrong in both cases. The law in this colony was not the same in this respect as the law in England at the time of the decisions to which reference was made in the Court below. Here the truth of the slander was no justification, because it was necessary to show besides that the publication was for the public benefit. The evidence rejected did not therefore amount to the defence of justification.

Rule absolute, with costs.

RE OWEN FURNER.

Mr. Pilcher obtained a rule nisi for a prohibition to a Small Debts Court at Goulburn, returnable next Tuesday.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FAUCETT, Acting Primary Judge.)

GLASGOW V. STEPHEN AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Owen, Q.C., and Mr. Knox, instructed by Messrs. Cope and King, for the plaintiff; Mr. Darley, Q.C., Mr. A. H. Simpson, and Dr. Donovan, instructed by Messrs. Stephen, Laurence, and Jaques, for the defendants.

The hearing of this suit was resumed at 11 a.m., and occupied the attention of the Court all day. The case will be proceeded with on Thursday.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

TUESDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING.)

HEWETT V. STRATFORD.

Judgment was given in this case. G. A. Hewett, of George-street, Sydney, sued H. E. Stratford, of the Lands Office, Condoblin, for that plaintiff on February 27, 1883, in the Supreme Court, by a judgment of the said Court, recovered against defendant £123 8s. 2d., together with £7 7s. costs and 12s. 6d. for mileage, which said judgment was still in force and unsatisfied. The plaintiff claimed £131 7s. 8d. His Honor said that the defendant was sued upon a promissory note in the Supreme Court, and judgment was obtained thereon, which, not being satisfied, the plaintiff sued upon it in the District Court, with the avowed object of getting a writ of ca. sa. From the plaint, his Honor gathered that defendant now lived outside the district of his Court, and prima facie, therefore, that Court had no jurisdiction. It was argued, however, that as the promissory note was made payable in Sydney, the Court had originally jurisdiction, and therefore had now. The answer to this was that the original cause of action had merged into a judgment, and the judgment was the cause of action now. Since the judgment, the defendant had not by any promise in writing promised to pay it in Sydney. He must hold that this Court had no jurisdiction.

MACCONACHIE V. ROGALSKY.

In this case Thomas Macconachie, fireman, residing at Ultimo, sued A. Rogalsky, trading as a mutual loan and discount company, of Hunter-street, Sydney, for that defendant broke and entered the dwelling-house of plaintiff, at 110, Fig-street, Ultimo, and took and carried away household furniture and effects of plaintiff therein, and disposed of same to defendant's own use. Plaintiff claimed £200. Mr. Bruce Smith, instructed by Mr. Slattery, appeared for plaintiff; and Mr. G. B. Simpson, instructed by Mr. Levy, for defendant. It appeared that while plaintiff was absent at sea his wife, who kept a boarding-house, went to defendant to borrow money. She obtained from him the sum of £6, for which she was to pay 30s., and which she was to pay off by weekly instalments of 7s. 6d. She signed a bill of sale over her husband's property as security for the debt. She paid four instalments, and tendered a fifth, but this was declined, defendant's clerk alleging that as plaintiff had returned, defendant wanted the balance paid or better security than the bill of sale. Sometime afterwards defendant's men took from plaintiff's house £30 worth of property belonging to him. Two lodgers left on account of their beds being taken, and two others left because there was not accommodation in the dining-room for them. These lodgers paid plaintiff's wife £1 a week for board and lodging. It transpired that plaintiff was away in New Zealand for 12 months. It was denied that he had deserted her. On the contrary, it was stated that she had seen him depart, and that he had left her provided for. He had not written to her, but from other sources she learned his whereabouts, and upon his return to Sydney he sought her out. The goods seized were sold for less than £6. The defence was that defendant was not guilty. He held that he was entitled to seize the goods, because, as he alleged, plaintiff's wife had represented herself to be a widow, from which he inferred that the goods were her own property. Evidence was given that Mrs. Macconachie had stated that the property in her house was hers, it having been purchased with her money, and that her husband had left her, and she did not know where he was. Having heard a considerable amount of evidence in the case, his Honor stated that at first he thought he would reserve his judgment. However, he would not do so now. He intended to find for the plaintiff. He was of opinion that the doctrine of estoppel and the Married Women's Property Act did not apply in the case. The verdict would be for the plaintiff for £50, with £7 7s. counsel's fee, £1 1s. extra for attorney's fee, and allowance for five witnesses for two days.

ALLEN V. TAYLOR.

In this case John Allen sued Michael Taylor for £22 10s. on a promissory note. Mr. Leslie appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Newell for defendant, who did not attend. His Honor gave a verdict for plaintiff for the amount claimed, with interest to date.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—TUESDAY.

(Before his Honor Mr. Justice WINDEYER.)

The Attorney-General, assisted by Mr. P. J. Healey, prosecuted.

A FATAL FIGHT—MANSLAUGHTER.

Palmer Bushel, 19 years, surrendered to his bail, and pleaded guilty to a charge of having, at Wilberforce, on the 26th April, killed and slain one David Everingham. Mr. F. E. Rogers appeared on behalf of the prisoner. Evidence was given which tended to show that the injury which caused the death of Everingham was received in a fight, and that the prisoner had at first declined to fight deceased, but had eventually been induced by deceased to fight with him. It had been mentioned that deceased was 17 years of age, but as a matter of fact he was the same age as the prisoner, and there was not much disparity in the size of the two men. Evidence of a highly favourable nature was given as to the character of the prisoner, and a number of testimonials were put in in his favour. His Honor said he would read the depositions in the case, and the prisoner would be remanded for sentence.

WOUNDING THE RACEHORSE TERMINUS.

William Roberts and John William Stewart Macgregor were arraigned on a charge of having at Hay on the 13th April feloniously, unlawfully, and maliciously wounded a horse belonging to one John Dillon. The prisoner Macgregor pleaded guilty, and was removed from the box. The prisoner Roberts pleaded not guilty, and was defended by Mr. F. E. Rogers, who was instructed by Mr. W. T. Coonan.

The Hon. Mr. Dalley, in opening the case, said that the charge was that of maliciously wounding a racehorse. The crime was not merely cruel, but absolutely brutal. If the theory of the Crown were the correct one, the jury would find that the perpetration of the crime had been brought about by the basest of motives. If that theory were correct, by whomsoever the crime was committed, it was manifest that the motive of the criminal was to injure the owner of the horse in the first place—to wreak revenge—and to interfere with the possibility or probability of the horse in question, which was a racehorse, winning in some races which were to take place at Hillston within a short time of the perpetration of the crime. It would be shown by the evidence that a man named Dillon was proprietor of a racehorse called Terminus. That horse had been the property of the prisoner at the bar, but was sold in a selling race run on the racecourse at the last Hay races immediately before the perpetration of the offence. The horse was entered by the prisoner Roberts at a value of £50, and was sold for the sum of £125 to Dillon. The hon. and learned counsel then explained other circumstances of the case, and indicated the character of the evidence which he proposed to call, and also stated that he intended to call as a witness the prisoner Macgregor, who had just pleaded guilty.

The following evidence was taken:—

William Thomas Baker, Sub-inspector of Police, stationed at Hay, deposed that the prisoner at the bar came to the police station at Hay on the 17th April, in the forenoon, and said that Matthews had told him that the police had been inquiring about a pick at his place; prisoner also said that he had borrowed the pick from Matthews; witness asked what for, and he said to cut away the bank of the river, so as to get his horse Brilliant down to the stream for a swim; witness sent for the pick (produced) and it was brought to witness; that afternoon witness with Constable Cocking went to the stable at Dillon's Criterion Hotel; Dillon pointed out a dent in the jamb of the stable door; witness fitted one end of the pick into that dent, which was where the lock had been; there had been a staple and a padlock; witness found that the broad end of the pick fitted into the dent on the jamb; the small padlock (produced) witness got at the barracks; it was the lock which had been on Dillon's stable door; there were two sets of marks on that padlock; those marks appeared to have been made by some instrument used as a wrench; the other lock (produced) had no marks when witness got it; he forced open that lock with the pick, and by so doing made marks similar to those on the lock previously produced; witness subsequently saw the prisoner Stewart, alias Macgregor; it was on Tuesday, 17th April, when witness first saw the prisoner in the box; witness, in company with Constable Cocking, arrested him on Saturday, 21st, on the charge of maliciously wounding a horse.

By Mr. Rogers: That case occupied three days at Hay; Stewart stood on his trial for some time before withdrawing his plea of guilty to plead not guilty; then witness put Stewart in the box.

Theophilus Thomas Harrison, warder of the Hay Gaol, gave evidence to the effect that he saw the prisoner Roberts and also the prisoner Macgregor in a buggy near his (witness') residence between 12 and 1 o'clock on the 12th April; they were, witness believed, coming from the direction in which the horse's throat was cut the next day.

Constable James Cocking, stationed at Hay, deposed that on Friday, April 13, he went to Dillon's stable, and afterwards proceeded to the railway crossing; close to the crossing witness came upon the track of a man alongside a horse; beyond the railway crossing witness found the tracks of two horses; he followed them for a mile; they were going out; the track of the horse on the right-hand side appeared to correspond with the track witness followed to the railway gate; witness afterwards saw a horse belonging to the prisoner Roberts, and one of the pair of tracks (the left-hand one) corresponded with the tracks of that horse; it was a buggy horse; witness went about three miles, and saw a log with blood on it; within 30 yards of the log there was a buggy track, which ran towards the railway crossing, called the marked-tree crossing; witness traced the track to Roberts' yard; witness measured the width of the tyre of the buggy, and the measurement between the two wheels, and those measurements corresponded with the tracks; witness measured the shoes of Roberts' buggy horse, a bay; there was a peculiarity in the way in which the horse was shod; there were two small projections on the shoes.

By Mr. Rogers: The tracks of the buggy horse corresponded with the tracks of the horse on the left-hand side; witness compared the tracks of the horse he got from Roberts on the 23rd or 24th April with the tracks which he had found on the 13th.

By his Honor: The ground up at Hay would retain the tracks some days.

By a Juror: The place where the horse was wounded was north by east of Hay; the buggy went out in one direction and came back another way.

John Dillon, publican, residing at Hay, deposed that he was the owner of a horse called Terminus, which he bought on the Hay racecourse on the 27th March, in the Selling Stakes; the horse had won the race, and was then owned by the prisoner; the horse was to be put up at £50, and was bought by witness for £120; witness and prisoner had not been on good terms, but had quarrelled; after buying the horse witness sent him home; on the 12th April witness had the horse in his stable, which was always supposed to be locked; the padlock produced was on the staple of the stable on the 12th April; about 7 o'clock on the following morning he went out to the stable and found the horse Terminus in the lane, and having his throat cut; the wound was about eight inches in length, and one and a-half in depth; witness found some tracks, which he followed to the back of the Public school; he put the police on those tracks; beyond the railway gates, about a quarter of a-mile from the school, witness saw the tracks of two horses; one of the tracks was that of Terminus, and the other was that of Roberts' buggy horse, which had a very long and peculiar foot; witness followed the tracks a distance of three miles from Hay, and then saw a log with some blood upon it; a lot of wood had been cut up there; near the log he found the large knife and the steel produced; there was a buggy track there.

By Mr. Rogers: The quarrel which witness had with the prisoner was witness' fault; witness had bet prisoner 100 to 4 against Terminus and Peeping Tom (a double event); the prisoner had also backed Terminus in another double event, in which witness bet prisoner 100 to 4, so that the disappearance of Terminus would result in prisoner losing £8; the Hillston races were to have taken place in about three weeks after the 12th April; Terminus was pretty heavily backed and his price was short; Terminus was the favourite, and ran successfully in several races at Hillston; witness was a bookmaker; any accident to Terminus would cause the horse to decline in public favour.

John Mascoll deposed he was in the employment of Mr. Dillon as a horse trainer; on Thursday night, April 12, witness saw Terminus in the box in the stable at about a quarter to 9 o'clock; the horse was then sound; a padlock was on the door; next morning witness saw the horse with his throat cut outside the gate, and in the lane; the horse had on the halter produced.

By Mr. Rogers: Witness saw the horse at a quarter to 9 on the Thursday night, and had never stated to Mr. Pollard that he saw the horse at 12 o'clock that night.

Thomas Allen, saddler, of Hay, gave corroborative evidence with regard to the finding of the tracks; he also deposed that he picked up the small leather strap (produced) on the tracks.

George Munro, horse trainer, identified the halter and strap which had been produced as articles which had been left by him at the prisoner Roberts' place on the 30th March.

George Matthews, auctioneer, deposed to having sold Terminus to Mr. Dillon for £125; after the sale the prisoner Roberts came to witness and asked him whether he had sold the horse with his engagements; witness replied, he had sold the horse under the usual selling race conditions; Roberts said, "Dillon has bought him thinking he shall run at Hillston, but he shall not."

G. Munro, recalled by Mr. Rogers, deposed that before leaving Roberts he had a fight with Roberts, who knocked him down; witness might have said, "I have done you one injury, and I will do you another."

By Mr. Dalley: Witness was not a voluntary witness in this case, but was sent for 130 miles by the police; witness had never, and had not now, any ill feeling against the prisoner.

Lucy Everett, about 15 years, gave evidence to the effect that one day prior to the commission of the crime she saw the prisoners Roberts and Macgregor in a buggy; they had an axe in the buggy, and drove past Warden Harrison's house.

Sergeant George Devine, stationed at Hay, deposed that on the 12th April he was in a shop in Lachlan-street, Hay, at about five or ten minutes to 9 o'clock p.m.; prisoner came into the shop and said he had scratched Terminus for the races at Hillston, because Dillon had not paid him some money he owed him; Roberts left at a minute or so past 9 o'clock, but about a quarter to 10 o'clock came into the shop again and remained conversing until about five minutes past 10 o'clock, when he went in the direction of his own house;

John Stewart William Macgregor deposed that he was a butcher, and that he had that morning pleaded guilty to wounding a horse; witness saw the prisoner Roberts on several occasions before the horse was injured; Roberts said he would like to "have Dillon," a phrase which meant to do him some injury; witness said "How," and Roberts replied it was easy done, that he would like to have Terminus from him; witness asked him "how that was to be done," and he said he could easily get the horse out of the stable by bursting the door open—that they could take him out and put him away; Roberts also said, "I will give you £10;" Roberts asked witness to go and see where the horse was kept; witness went, and told him afterwards where he (witness) thought the horse was kept, and that was the middle box; Roberts said, "All right, we'll have him out of that—you must get a place to put him;" witness said, "All right;" prisoner said, "We may as well go out to-day;" the day after that Roberts said he had been out in the morning, had seen a place, and they would go out and see it they could find it; witness went out with Roberts in a buggy to seek a place behind the racecourse; they could not find the place Roberts wanted, so they selected another place; witness cut up some wood with an axe, and they both carried it; that wood was to have been used for burning the horse after it had been killed; they came home, and that afternoon witness and Roberts had a conversation in the yard of the latter about a pick; Roberts said they had better see and get the horse that night; Roberts told witness to meet him about a quarter-past 8 that night in the yard; Roberts told him to bring out a knife and steel, and that he had better put on a big coat; by direction of Roberts witness took a pick and a bridle and went away; prisoner went down the street, and met witness at about 20 minutes past 9 o'clock; witness then said he thought Terminus was in the first box; Roberts said, "Come on," and they went to the stable door; Roberts told witness to put the pick in the lock; witness was trying to prise the lock off, and Roberts thrust the door open, tearing the lock off; Roberts struck a light, and said "It's him;" the bridle was put on, and Roberts led the horse out; witness tried to ride the horse, but he jumped from under him; the horse was led some distance, when Roberts brought the knife and steel (produced), and also a halter, and said, "Make a good job of it;" Roberts brought his buggy horse and witness mounted it, and led the other horse to where the wood was cut; when he arrived there he took the bridle off and put on the halter; witness made a cut at the horse and he reared; witness led the horse up again, looked at the cut, and let him go; witness struck the knife and steel in the ground, took the saddle and bridle home, and went to bed; in the morning Roberts asked him how he got on, and he (witness) told him the horse got away; some days afterwards Roberts gave witness £2; witness at that time owed Roberts £2.

The witness was cross-examined at some length by Mr. Rogers as to his antecedents.

Frederick Cherry, pharmaceutical chemist, deposed that he saw the horse Terminus on the 13th April, when the horse was suffering from a long wound in the throat; such a knife as the one produced would cause the wound in the throat.

By Mr. Rogers: Witness saw Roberts at his (witness') place at 20 minutes to 10 o'clock on the night of the 12th April, and they went to the Crown Hotel and had some drink.

The following witnesses were called for the defence:—

Robert Waterman, a horse trainer, who deposed that he had been in the employment of the prisoner Roberts; he was in the company of Roberts on the morning and afternoon of the Wednesday preceding the night when the horse's throat was cut; witness was also in the company of Roberts on the running track early on Thursday morning, and saw him again at about 2 o'clock on the afternoon of that day, when they went and swam Brilliant in the stream; that afternoon they used a pick to cut a path for the horse to get through.

George Blondineau gave corroborative testimony as to the horse Brilliant having been swum in the river at about 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the 12th April.

Charles Tuson, baker, residing next to the prisoner's place, deposed that he went out for a walk at about 9 o'clock on Thursday night, and saw Roberts meet Mr. Cherry; at about half-past 10 that night witness saw Roberts at his place, and he was dressed as if he were going to bed; witness was present when there was a fight between Roberts and Munro; the latter said to Roberts, "I have done you one injury, and I'll do you another yet."

William Thomas Hills, bookkeeper at Tattersall's Hotel, Hay, deposed to having seen the prisoner Roberts at that hotel for half an hour and up till 20 minutes past 9 o'clock on the evening of the 12th April.

Edward Mensforth, fruit dealer at Hay, deposed that the prisoner Roberts was at his shop at a quarter to 10 o'clock on the night of the 12th April; prisoner left his shop at a quarter-past 10 o'clock that night.

James H. Pollard, grazier, deposed that he saw Mascoll on the morning of the 13th April, and in reply to inquiries Mascoll then said that after visiting the Chinese camp the previous evening he went to the stable at about 12 o'clock, and the horse was all right then; Mr. Cherry and Mr. Stewart were present when Mascoll made that statement.

Messrs. Cherry and Stewart were called, and both witnesses deposed that no such statement was made in their hearing by Mascoll.

The further hearing of the case was then adjourned until half-past 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning, when counsel will address the jury and his Honor will sum up the evidence.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

A number of cases of drunkenness were dealt with.

Denis Ryan, on a charge of drunkenness, was fined 10s., or in default imprisonment for two days; and, on a charge of having used obscene language in Goulburn-street, was fined 20s., or in default imprisonment for seven days, in addition; and also, on a charge of having assaulted a constable in the execution of his duty, was fined £3, or in default imprisonment for one month.

Parkinson Carter, on a charge of having assaulted one Joseph Delaney, was fined 40s., or in default imprisonment for 14 days; and, on a charge of having assaulted Constable Gilmour in the execution of his duty, was fined 40s., or in default 14 days' imprisonment.

Charles Deacon was charged by Inspector Webber, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with having cruelly illtreated a horse. The animal was in a wretchedly poor condition, and had been driven in a vehicle by the accused. A fine of £5 was inflicted.

Mary Ann O'Toole, aged 15, was charged with having wandered about in company with persons of bad repute. She was ordered to be sent to Biloela Industrial School.

John Bourke, alias Turner, alias Charles Dickens, was charged with having been found in the bedroom of one Charles Fisher, Goulburn House, Druitt-street, with intent to commit a felony. The accused when arrested stated that he had only been three months in the colony, having at one time been steward on board an Orient steamer; he said he gained his livelihood honestly. He was known to the police as a thief and burglar, and had served 13 sentences in prison since 1869. Charles Fisher, lodging in Goulburn House, deposed that the accused had entered his bedroom on Thursday morning at 2 o'clock, and had lit the candle and was looking about the room, when the prosecutor woke, and the accused then said he was drunk and had made a mistake; the man was sober. The keeper of the house deposed that the conduct of the accused had been very mysterious during his stay at the house, he sleeping during the day and going out at night; he also had a phial containing chloroform in his possession. He was sentenced to be imprisoned for six months. He was also charged with having no visible lawful means of support, and was sentenced to imprisonment for six months, both sentences to be concurrent.

Morris Aarons and John Harris were charged with having stolen a £1 note from the person of Matthew Mailie. Mr. M'Carty defended the accused Aarons. From the evidence taken it appeared that the prosecutor, a labourer at Ashfield, had been in Sydney on Thursday last, and had gone to the Mercantile Hotel, George-street, where he met the two accused. The prosecutor made a bet with the prisoner Harris, of £1, that he knew more of Ashfield than Harris did. The prosecutor gave a £1-note, and Harris a piece of paper resembling in appearance a cheque, to the landlady to hold. Aarons asked to look at the money, and whilst holding the £1-note Harris snatched it from him. Aarons asked him to return it, but he would not do so. The accused Aarons was discharged. The prisoner Harris, who was well known to the police, set up as a defence that the matter had been a wager which he had won. He was sentenced to be imprisoned for three months. He was also charged with having assaulted Matthew Mailie. It appeared that after the accused had snatched the £1-note the prosecutor demanded it back, and the prisoner then struck him on the face. The accused said he had been struck first. He was sentenced to be imprisoned for one month in addition to previous sentence.

LICENSING MEETING.

Messrs. Dillon (chairman), Clarke, Crane, and M'Intosh, L.M.s, presided.

Transfers of licenses were granted—From John H. Smith, Man of Australia Hotel, Pitt Town, to Nicodemus Barnett; from Eugene Dorney, Limerick Castle Hotel, Ann and Smith streets, to Mary Brady.

A booth or stand license was granted to William Douglas, Killarney Inn, M'Grath's Hill, for 10th, 11th, and 12th May, Hawkesbury annual show.

W. Dickson, York Hotel, pleaded guilty to a charge of having sold liquor after authorised hours. He was fined £3, with costs.

Henry Bacchus was charged with having sold liquor on Sunday to other than a traveller. This was a second offence, and the offender was fined £4, with costs.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Messrs. Buchanan and Marsh, S.Ms., sat at the Water Police Court yesterday.

Michael Crone alias Dwyer was sentenced to six months' hard labour for stealing four coats and a handkerchief, of the value of £1 10s. 6d., the property of Mr. Napper. The prisoner is a convicted thief, and Detective Williams noticing him lurking about the streets, took him to the Central Police office and searched him. In his possession was found the handkerchief marked "—Napper, Randwick," and this was identified as part of the property stolen from Mr. Napper's house.

Ann Simpson was sent to gaol for three months for stealing a lady's jacket, of the value of 16s. 6d., the property of H. W. Webb, King-street. She was seen to take the article from the shop front, and was promptly arrested. For using obscene language when arrested she was further fined £5, with the alternative of three months' imprisonment.

Clement Griffin was fined 40s., or in default 14 days' imprisonment, for getting into a tramcar while in motion, and was further fined £5 or two months' imprisonment for wilfully impeding Frederick Hinton, a tram conductor, while in the execution of his duty.

John O'Brien and John Jones were committed for trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions for stealing a set of harness and a suit of oilskins, of the value of £4 10s., the property of George Crane. Constable Adair saw the prisoners busy in the yard of Mr. Crane's premises in George-street, and on their coming out carrying a bag, he arrested them and found the stolen property in their possession.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

Alfred Addis, for wilfully breaking a pane of glass, value 15s., the property of John Reddan, was sentenced to pay 15s., or two days; the same, for assaulting John Reddan, was fined 40s., or one month; the same, for violent behaviour in the Newtown watchhouse, was fined 20s., or seven days.

Robert Marsh, for obscene language, was fined 40s., 4s. 10d. costs, or 14 days.

James Hoad, for violent behaviour, was fined 40s., 2s. 6d. costs, or seven days.

'BUS HORSES AND 'BUS DRIVERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As a frequent passenger to and from town by the Redfern omnibus, I would direct your attention, and that of the public, to the brutal system of treatment adopted by the drivers towards the unfortunate animals attached to these vehicles. Upon ordinary week days the 'buses do a fair average trade, but upon Saturdays the takings are quite equal to the days preceding the introduction of trams; yet no provision is made for this extra amount of traffic. No more horses are employed or allowed than upon any other day, and the poor, miserable, half-starved animals are supposed to work 16 or 20 hours, drawing enormous burdens, with only a few minutes' rest at intervals throughout the whole time, and being physically unable for the work, are pushed and punished in the most barbarous manner.

Only last Saturday I heard a cabman—and Sydney cabbies are not supposed to be made of melting stuff—indignantly denouncing the brutal treatment of one of the drivers to his horses. The 'bus was dragging its way up Brickfield-hill, literally loaded inside and out; the poor fagged horses, bathed in foam, stood in the road, evidently unable to go any further, whilst the driver laid on to the exhausted animals with all his force, hitting them indiscriminately over the head and eyes. It would not, of course, be fair to wholly blame the driver for this, as the proprietors are the really responsible parties. The men are expected to get the utmost amount of work out of the horses in their charge, and must resort to brutality to keep them on their feet. But surely the managers might change this, and, in view of the large and profitable Saturday traffic, they should allow three or four horses to each 'bus; and I would also suggest a little more corn. Such a state of things as exists on this line of 'buses would not be suffered to go unchecked twice in the sister colony; hence it is rarely, if ever, attempted, and when detected the offenders are brought to speedy punishment. "The merciful man is merciful to his beast." Alas! there is little of the gentle quality amongst the owners and drivers of the Redfern omnibuses.

I am, &c.,

126, Pitt-street, Redfern. JAMES DARLING.

THE PUBLIC LANDS INQUIRY.

V.—EVIDENCE OF A SQUATTER OF VARIED EXPERIENCE.

"It appears to me most extraordinary that, after the experience of 21 years, the absolute folly of the Land Act of 1861 is not apparent to every one, including its author. The free selectors are against the present laws; see their conferences in Sydney every year since 1877. The pastoral tenants of the Crown are against the present laws, and the people are against the present laws, because they do not provide for the payment of sufficient rent for the public estate. The free selectors will and must be dissatisfied with their grazing rights not being reserved to them with certainty for five or seven years upon certain conditions. Instead of compelling them to spend in three years 20s. per acre on their 320 acres, they should have been secured their grazing rights for five or seven years, upon their paying to the State at the rate of £2 per section, upon the following conditions:—First, to reside on their selections for five or seven years certain, without the power of selling; and second, that they fence the selection and grazing rights within two years from the day of selection. Had conditions of this kind been imposed in 1861, what a world of trouble and annoyance, and false swearing would have been saved. It was not until the beginning of 1864 that the squatters began to find out that the free selectors did not in reality carry out the conditions imposed upon them as to actual residence and expenditure on the selections of £1 per acre in improvements; and then it was that the squatters presented a petition to Parliament with the following clauses:—'That in lieu of a pre-emptive lease of an area thrice that of the land conditionally bought, the conditional purchaser may be granted an indefeasible lease of 14 years, with an absolute pre-emptive right over an area of twice that of the land conditionally bought; but that the land purchased by the conditional purchaser, and held by such pre-emptive lease, shall be securely fenced within two years from the date of such selection, and that until such fencing be made and completed, no power of impounding off such land by such purchaser shall exist or be allowed.' Conditions of this kind would have saved a large amount of false declarations. I am told that the land agents in the different squatting districts brought the non-fulfilment of conditions on the part of the free selector under the notice of the Minister; but they were told that the Government only required declarations as to residence and improvements, and they were satisfied. About 1869, a man came to me as a justice of the peace, to make a declaration as to residence and improvements on his selection of 160 acres, at a place called Tom's Lake, in the Lachlan district. He said the land agent at Hay gave him a form, and requested him to come to me as a magistrate, fill up the form, and make the declaration to me that he had fully complied with the conditions of the Land Act of 1861. After reading the declaration, I remarked to him 'that the statements in the declaration to my knowledge were not true, and if he made the declaration he was liable to be prosecuted criminally, and I should be bound as a magistrate to bring the circumstances under the notice of the Government.' Notwithstanding this he made the declaration. I knew personally that this man had not expended £160 on his selection, nor had he resided on it for the previous six months, but had actually sold his interest in the selection to another person. I wrote at once officially to the land agent, detailing particulars, and requesting him to bring the facts under the notice of the Minister for Lands in Sydney. I heard no more of it. Nothing was done to amend matters until 1875, when the Lands Acts Amendment Act became law. Under the 25th section of that Act, power was given to the Governor in Council to appoint commissioners to investigate and ascertain if the conditions of the 18th section of the Land Act of 1861 had been complied with. When the Land Act of 1861 came into operation I was residing on my station called Wanganella, about 30 miles north of Deniliquin. I bought that station in a state of nature, from a Mr. Innes, in 1854, and held it up to 1861, when the land law of that year compelled me to sell out, for it would have been impossible for me to contend against the free selectors. I subsequently took up country further out in the Lachlan district. In 1856 I put in tenders for eight blocks of country: four blocks 40 miles north of Balranald, each containing 50 square miles of waterless country; the other four blocks about 40 miles north of Booligal, called the Sebastopol Blocks. I heard in Melbourne by mere accident that some of my tenders would be accepted. Between 1848 and 1861, nearly if not quite 4000 tenders for new country had been received at the Crown Lands Office, and each tender had been forwarded to the commissioners of each squatting district to report upon. During a period of thirteen years not one tender had been reported on by the Crown Lands Commissioners. A gentleman went from Victoria about 1865 or 1866 to Sydney, and being then on intimate terms with the Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands, he had access to the list of tenders that had been sent in, with a description of each. With this information at his fingers' ends, he made a map upon which he marked off the tenders. By these means he found the vacant spots, and he and his friends sent in tenders for these vacant spots, and it was from him I heard that some of my tenders would be accepted. It appears strange to me that the Minister for Lands did not compel the commissioners to report upon these tenders. A very large amount of money was lost to the State in consequence. In 1861 a select committee was appointed to inquire into the system of tendering for runs. Mr. F. T. Rusden was the chairman of this committee, and he brought up a progress report. In the second section of this report, it is stated:—'They would beg to refer your Honorable House to the evidence before them, which has clearly and forcibly shown that some more expeditious system of answering tenders, and placing persons in possession of their runs, should at once be adopted, as when persons are deterred from going on runs until a satisfactory answer is received to their applications, it paralyses the investment of capital; and, on the other hand, if they are induced to enter on an unauthorised occupation, it often leads to vexatious disputes—in some instances to their being dispossessed, and may end in lawsuits. I took possession of my Sebastopol blocks in 1864, and commenced to develop them by making tanks and sinking wells. I spent on these blocks in 1864 and 1865 close upon £20,000 in improving and partially stocking them. We had no rain from October, 1864, up to February, 1866. During that period I lost all the lambs from 16,000 ewes; and half the original stock died (the half of 23,000 sheep). I was left in 1866 with only about 11,000 sheep—ewes, wethers, and rams. It took me more than twelve years to recover my losses. My run consisted of 128,000 acres, with no natural water on the run. I fenced the whole in; divided the country into thirteen paddocks; sank four wells, and made dams and tanks; and built a good house, outbuildings, woolshed, &c. In 1875 the free selectors began to approach me. I thought it prudent to clear out, rather than resort to all sorts of rascality, dummyism, false declarations, &c. Not an acre of this run was capable of cultivation in any shape whatever, and had we been under equitable and reasonable land laws, I might at this moment have been in possession of this run, paying a good rent to the State, without in any way interfering with the settlement of the country. I would not object to free selection, provided the free selector was compelled to fence his selection within a certain period. At this moment the neighbouring colonies—South Australia, Victoria, and Queensland—are introducing new land laws, and in each case the lands are classified; agricultural and pastoral lands are defined. Why the same should not be done here I cannot conjecture. It is now a well-established fact that, of the free selections taken up since 1861, more than one-half have fallen into the hands of the squatters and capitalists. Another objection I have to the land law, is: All the squatters pay their annual rents on the 31st December of each year in advance. A free selector, according to the present law, can free select on any run in January, say 640 acres in the middle of a sheep paddock, besides claiming three times the area as a pre-lease, for which he pays the State £2 per section on the very land the squatter had paid rent for the year,—perhaps £3, £4, or even £5 per section. This system under the present law compels the squatter to purchase by auction as much of his run as possible, so as to claim a pre-lease of three times the area bought at £2 per section, for the very land that had been appraised at £3 or £5 per section. The present system of the land laws is most injurious, not only to the free selectors, but to the squatter. Several cases to prove this have come under my notice of late. In the first case, a friend of mine was in the midst of shearing. Some of the shearers were shearing badly, and leaving a good deal of wool on the sheep. My friend remonstrated, and told the men if they did not shear better they would have to leave the shed. They took very little notice of this, and some three or four continued to shear badly, and he had to pay them off and discharge them. These three men went the next day, and each selected 40 acres in the paddock next to the shearing shed, and gave notice to the overseer to keep his sheep off their grazing rights and their selections, or the sheep would be impounded. The result was that my friend had to build huts and yards, and shepherd his own sheep in his own paddock, and he had subsequently to abandon that paddock. I would ask is this just, fair, or reasonable? The next case I shall refer to came under my own notice. A friend of mine had a run capable of grazing some 15,000 sheep. This run was fenced in and divided into several paddocks—a mountainous country, of which not one acre is fit for agriculture. In one of the paddocks were grazing about 4000 sheep. Inside this paddock the owner had dug a large tank for watering the sheep. A free selector selected 640 acres in the middle of this paddock, and he at once gave notice to the overseer to keep his sheep off his selection as well as off his grazing rights. The overseer said it would be impossible to do this, and he would be glad to make any reasonable arrangements, even to allowing the selector to graze his sheep in the paddock, or even to turn them out with the paddock sheep, provided they were well branded with pitch. The selector refused to come to any terms; all he required was that the sheep be kept off his land. A kind of warfare went on between the owner of the run and the selector. Some time after this the drought compelled the selector to sell his sheep, and he requested the overseer to get his sheep in, so that he might take his sheep out of the overseer's sheep. This was ultimately agreed to, upon the condition that the free selector should also allow the overseer to examine his sheep. The free selector got his sheep in, and the overseer found 12 of his sheep in the selector's flock. The ear-mark on one of these sheep had been altered, besides having the selector's pitch brand on the side of the sheep. The selector was asked if that sheep belonged to him? He said yes, and that they had his ear-mark and his pitch brand. The overseer found two more with the ear-mark altered, as well as having the pitch brand on the side. The selector claimed all three sheep. The overseer then examined the other ear inside in each sheep, and there found the proprietor's private ear-mark in Indian ink, to the astonishment of the selector. The overseer then got in his sheep, and the selector claimed 30 sheep as belonging to him, each having the ear-mark altered, and the pitch brand on the side, with the private Indian ink-mark in the other ear. The selector was brought before the bench of magistrates, and was committed to take his trial at the next Quarter Sessions. The trial came on, the witnesses attended, and a clear case of sheep-stealing was made out, and the Judge told the jury so; notwithstanding, one juryman stuck out against the other 11. At last the Judge had to discharge the jury, but bound the prisoner over in his own recognisance of £75, and two sureties in £50 each, to appear again when called upon at some future day. The selector returned to his selection, and at once commenced a civil action for trespass, and laid his damages at £200. The trial came on before a Judge and four jurymen—free selectors—and they gave a verdict for £50. With these £50 he employed a lawyer to defend him in the criminal case, which came off last March; and after some delay by the jury, the selector was convicted of sheep-stealing, and got 12 months' imprisonment. I would ask you if a law that tolerates such a proceeding as this is not a bad one; and the sooner it is altered the better. Had the law compelled the selector to fence his selection in as well as his pre-lease, the proprietor would have been only too glad to pay half the expense of the fence. Under any circumstances, according to the present law, the selector is compelled to spend 10s. per acre in the improvements on his 640 acres. I say why not give the selector his pre-lease for certain, for a period say of five or seven years, upon the condition that the whole lot be fenced in within two years. He is compelled to spend £320 on the selection. This amount would fence the four sections in, and the squatter would only be too glad to pay half the expense. I hope I have made myself clearly understood. I say—and I say it without fear of contradiction—that the free-selectors have been badly used under the present law, as well as the squatters. Instead of harmonising their two interests, the present law has set class against class. A third case has lately come under my notice. A gentleman has lately purchased a large station in the Murrumbidgee district. Shortly after he took delivery one or two selected on his run. Soon after they came to the owner, and said they had made a mistake, and would gladly sell out to him, and they would take 15s. per acre, and leave him to pay the Government the other 15s. as the money became due. This he declined to do, and said he intended to fence their boundary lines, and they could remain as they were. This is what is called 'black-mailing' on the squatters. A fourth case I will relate:—One George C—— selected 320 acres of land on our run in the G—— district. Shortly after he impounded 700 head of our cattle, amongst them four bulls, upon which he put £5 each, the cost to us in releasing the lot being £73 1s. 6d. We then placed a man to watch his selection; but in February following we had occasion to take the man off for part of a day, when he (C——) embraced the opportunity of again impounding 150 head more, including two bulls, which were of course subjected to the usual £5 each, costing in all £20. After this one man was constantly kept on watch for a period of five months, at a cost to us of about £2 per week, at the expiration of which time C—— deserted the selection, and it became forfeited. He had neither stock nor improvements on his selection, but lived in a calico tent only. I believe more selections have been taken up by free selectors in the Murrumbidgee districts than in any other in the colony; and so impressed was the Government that an agricultural yeomanry would be located between Deniliquin and Conargo, that they have actually gone to the expense of erecting a Public school, and outbuildings to some extent, under the impression that a large number of selectors' children would attend the school. A friend of mine writes to me as follows:—'I reply to your question with regard to the Public school recently erected between here and Conargo, I have made inquiries and find there are about 20 children attending it at present, but it is still my opinion that in less than three years all the selectors surrounding it will be bought out. Numbers are being bought out in this district, and very few selections taking place at the Deniliquin Land Office. Since the railway was opened to Hay, a great many selectors have taken up land near Booligal, and out north for 50 miles. Having resided out there for many years, I feel sure that all these selectors will only be too glad to sell to the pastoral occupants. All the flour consumed in the Lachlan, Darling, and Albert squatting district is brought either from Melbourne or Adelaide. It is quite impossible to grow cereals in these dry arid pastoral districts. A gentleman writing to me under date the 2nd October last says, 'You will be sorry to hear that the late rains did not reach Nundora in the Wentworth district, and so dry has the country become, that I am obliged to abandon it altogether for the present, and all our improvements, amounting to the cost of many thousands of pounds. There has been no rain there to do any good for 18 months, and it is such a country and climate that Sir John Robertson considers suitable for free selection.' A very close approximation to what is really required by this colony as a settlement of the long-vexed question is exemplified in the Pastoral Leases Bill recently introduced in the South Australian Assembly by the Commissioner of Crown Lands, Mr. Catt, and read for a first time on the 3rd October, 1882. It will be seen from a résumé of its provisions that the measure in question is bold in conception and equitable in principle, and appears to be well adjusted in detail. Surely it ought not to be too great a demand on the sense of justice and legislative capacity of our own Parliament to look to it for a somewhat similar measure of redress for the evils under which the colony is now suffering. The South Australian measure repeals nothing in existing Acts, but it allows lessees in certain portions of the country to surrender their agreements, and obtain new leases in conformity with the provisions of the bill. The country brought under the operation of the bill is divided into two classes, both extending across the province from east to west. The first portion, beginning outside the farthest limit of agricultural settlement, takes in some very wild waterless country to the east and north-east, and goes west by an irregular line to Streaky Bay, the north line being irregular, and varying from latitude 29 degrees to latitude 30 degrees 20 minutes. Within these limits the lease is to be for 21 years, at a rental equivalent to 4d. per head on the average number of sheep, and 2s. per head on the average number of cattle depasturing on the land, provided, however, that the annual rent is not to be less than 5s. per square mile; and after the expiration of the first seven years such further sum as may be assessed upon valuation. At the end of the second seven years there is to be another valuation for rent. The second class of country is all that portion of the province north of the first, and extending up to the 25th parallel of latitude, forming the southern boundary of the Northern Territory. In this class the rent is to be threepence per head of sheep, and one shilling and sixpence per head of cattle; the minimum rent to be two shillings and sixpence per square mile, with fresh valuation at the end of each seven years. The term of the lease is to be 28 years. These lands or portions of them may be resumed for roads, railways, towns, or park lands, compensation being given for improvements, and will be of course open to the miner, but cannot be resumed for agricultural purposes except after three years' notice, and upon payment by the Government not only for all improvements, but for loss by resumption—or, in other words, the market value of the lease. The leases will contain improvement conditions, and cannot be assigned or sublet without the sanction of the Commissioner of Crown Lands, unless the improvements contracted to be made have been made to his satisfaction. At the end of the lease all improvements will revert absolutely to the Crown. Lands included in forfeited or expired leases are to be put up to auction, the competition being confined to the applicants. The Government reserves power to search for water on lands included in pastoral leases under the bill, and to take possession of any well or other place where water may be found by the Commissioner of Crown Lands, or any person authorised by him, and not more than a square mile contiguous thereto. To sum up what I have said: To counteract the radical defects of the land law of 1861, 'free selection before survey,' we require three things in any measure now to be brought forward, not one of which is contained in the present land law. First. A classification of lands in areas of—(1.) One containing lands suitable for agriculture. (2.) One or more containing lands exclusively suitable for pastoral purposes. Second. In the first class. (1.) All selections taken up with grazing rights secured to the selector for five or seven years, with right of purchase at £1 per acre at the end of that time, are to be securely fenced within two years; and, until they are so fenced, no right of impounding for trespass should be allowed. (2.) Residence by the selector to be required for five or seven years; no power of selling or transferring during that time, and the improvement clause rigidly enforced. Third. In the second class. Longer leases to the tenant, varying according to the class of area, with appraisement of value every seven years, on the principle so soundly embodied in the South Australian bill. On the first head I need say nothing. It recommends itself to every one who has thought on the matter (except Sir John Robertson), injures no one, and is really only a simplification of this complex subject. On the second head I have already said enough to establish the (1) first point. The 25th clause of the measure lately before the House is exceptional to the (2) second point, and to the whole tenor of our land laws. How it could have been sanctioned by Sir John Robertson, who has always so strenuously insisted upon residence as a sine quâ non, I know not; but however contrary to the general principles of our legislation, I approve most heartily of it. As long as the land is improved I see no objection whatever to the owner placing his servant upon it in lieu of residing on it himself. But why should he pay a higher price for the land than others? Such inequalities in legislation, giving advantages to one which are withheld from another, are very objectionable. Under the third head, it would be advisable to have more than one class of country. These classes should be arranged—(1) by their accessibility; (2) by the resources for obtaining water; (3) by the nature of the pasture. (1.) Accessibility. It is very clear that the value of a run must be decreased by (1) the difficulty and expense of obtaining supplies, and (2) by the difficulty and expense of bringing the stock to market. (2.) In the waterless districts of the interior, the expense of constructing dams and sinking wells largely varies. And when these are provided the value also of them is most uncertain. The value of dams of course depends upon the rainfall. With regard to wells, their value depends upon both the quantity and the quality of water obtained. The water may be good but deficient in quantity, or it may be so salt as to be altogether useless or of very inferior quality. (3.) The pasture may be fattening and good; but there is much country, notably in the lower Darling district, consisting of rolling sand ridges, with dense mallee scrub, which can only be stocked, if stocked at all, in the sparsest manner."

THERE is nothing more nourishing or warming in cold weather than a cup of really good cocoa, but the difficulty has been to obtain it pure. This may be secured at the cost of one half-penny for a large breakfast cup by using Cadbury's Cocoa Essence, which goes three times as far as the adulterated and starchy compounds ordinarily sold, the smallest packet making two breakfast cups of strong cocoa.—[ADVT.]

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE AS A BRAIN TONIC.—Dr. E. W. Robertson, Cleveland, O., says: "From my experience can cordially recommend it as a brain and nerve tonic, especially in nervous debility, nervous dyspepsia, &c. &c.—[ADVT.]

The name of the new steamer which was launched in Kirkaldy, last Friday, as an addition to the intercolonial fleet of Messrs. W. Howard Smith and Sons, is the Burwah, and not Burmah, as received in our special cable message. The name is taken from one of the high mountain peaks in Queensland.

Messrs. Gibbs, Bright, and Co. have received a cablegram advising them of the arrival of the s.s. Catterthun, at Hongkong on the 5th instant. This steamer left Sydney on the 14th April, and although she called en route at Queensland ports and Port Darwin, she made the rapid run up of 21 days.

The Taldora (s.), from Brisbane, arrived in harbour early yesterday morning. She comes here for the remainder of the sugar plant for the Johnstone River, which she was unable to take on her last trip.

The Salamis, ship, from London to Sydney, passed Gabo Island at 5.35 p.m. yesterday. A full-rigged ship passed north at 1.30 p.m., but too far off to make out her signals; also during the afternoon an American barque flying J. S. F. B., a full-rigged ship, and the American ship J. B. Brown, all bound north.

Two barques, a full-rigged ship, and a ship like the Glencairn passed Green Cape last evening, bound north.

The schooner Coquette, in attempting to cross the Richmond bar yesterday, took the ground on a shallow inside the breakwater. She is apparently in no danger.

The R. M. S. Australia left San Francisco for Sydney, via Auckland and Honolulu, on the 6th instant, her contract date being the 5th.

Had strong N.E. winds and heavy head sea from the Promontory to Gabo, and thence to Port Jackson Heads strong N. wind accompanied by heavy northerly swell.

The Kameruka (s.) left Bateman's Bay at 6.45 on the 7th instant, called at Ulladulla, took in cargo there, and left again at 5.20 p.m., passed Cape St. George at 7.30 p.m., and entered Sydney Heads at 4 a.m. on the 8th. The Taraweera (s.) left Russell, N. Z., on the 3rd instant at 7 p.m., and entered the Heads at 6 a.m. yesterday, having experienced variable winds and weather throughout the passage.

Captain Creer, of the C. H. R. S. N. Co. service, proceeded home by the steamship Orient, for the purpose of superintending the building of a passenger steamer for the above company. The vessel is to be of the twin screw class, 200 feet between perpendiculars, 27 feet extreme beam, and 10 feet depth of hold, and will be fitted up exclusively for passengers, with all the newest cabin furniture. The main saloon, 70 feet in length, will have 15 enclosed state rooms, besides pantries, bar and bath rooms. The ladies' saloon on deck will accommodate 22 persons, and will be supplied with a perfect system of ventilation. The forward saloon will accommodate 45 male and 15 female passengers. The vessel will thus berth a total of 140 passengers. There is to be a spacious promenade deck on top of the ladies' cabin, having a flying bridge from that to the main bridge. The captain and officers are all to be quartered on the main deck and wing houses, and the galley and necessary offices are to be fitted with all requisites. The vessel will be driven by a pair of Rankin and Blackmore's twin screw compound engines, fitted up in the very best style, will be capable of developing 900 horse power, and are calculated to drive the vessel at a speed of 12 knots per hour. Steam will be supplied from two oval boilers of steel, working at 80lb. per square inch. The hatches will each be supplied with a steam winch, having horizontal cylinders, and the vessel will be steered from the bridge by one of Muir and Caldwell's steam quartermasters. The forward end will have one of Napier's steam windlasses and heavy crane for the anchor. The plans and specifications are from the office of Messrs. Humphreys and Cracknell consulting engineers, of George-street, who have designed the boat, and from her appearance, it may be inferred that she will prove one of the most useful vessels in the Clarence and Richmond trade.

The United States barque Henry A. Litchfield arrived yesterday from New York with a full general cargo, and anchored in Careening Bay. This vessel is not a stranger here, having visited Sydney on two occasions some years ago. She sailed on the 21st January from New York, and experienced strong winds from N.W. for 11 or 12 days afterwards, and then had moderate breezes and fine weather up to the N.E. trades, which were found in about 28° N. lat. Fresh breezes were had thence up till about 4° N. lat., when the trades gave out, and the usual variables prevailed thence to the Equator, which was crossed on February 18, in long. 28·35 W. The S.E. trades were caught on the Line, and were not parted with until about 27° S. was reached, fresh breezes and fine weather having been experienced during that time; thence had N.W. and W.N.W. winds up till reaching Tasmania. The meridian of the Cape was crossed in lat. 39·54 S., on March 25, and the easting run down between the parallels of 42° and 43° S.; strong westerly gales and a very heavy sea, in which the barque shipped a great deal of water, prevailing during the run across the Indian Ocean. Tasmania was rounded on the 27th April, after which date four days of N.E. and N.N.E. winds were experienced, and then two days of strong W.S.W. winds and a heavy sea. Thence up to port had light N.N.E. breezes and variable weather.

A British ship, showing "I. D H K." and bound from Melbourne to London, was spoken by the American barque Henry A. Litchfield, which arrived from New York yesterday, in lat. 32·22 N., and lon. 43. W., on February 3.

The steamship Aberdeen completed her third voyage from London to this port yesterday. The voyage on this occasion occupied just 44 days to Melbourne, a day longer than the previous one; but this is to be accounted for in a great measure by the engines having to be slowed down for the safety and comfort of a number of valuable horses, which she brought to Melbourne. The pump valves, moreover, required some putting to rights during the passage, and but for the stoppages involved by the foregoing considerations the voyage would have been completed in at least two days' less time. The triple-expansion engines with which the Aberdeen is fitted have demonstrated their entire suitability for a boat like the Aberdeen, and more is likely to be heard of this description of marine engines. Captain Matheson is still in command, and reports leaving London for Plymouth on March 17. A departure was taken thence on March 18 at 6 p.m., and the Aberdeen had to steam against fresh to strong southerly and W.S.W. winds until getting to the southward of the Canary Islands. The N.E. trades were fallen in with in lat. 29° N., but the breezes were light, and finally took off in lat. 11° N. The Aberdeen steamed across the Line and into the S.E. trades on March 31, at 7 a.m., in 11° N. The trades were followed by southerly winds, fresh and strong, and accompanied with a high turbulent sea, until passing the Cape of Good Hope—eight miles distant—on the 11th ultimo, at 10 a.m. The steamer's track in running down the easting was laid in the parallel of 43 degrees; and along this line of latitude the winds were mostly northerly, and were accompanied with rain and foggy weather. Twice the winds freshened into hard gales, which sent along a heavy confused sea. The longitude of the Leeuwin was crossed on the 27th ultimo, and moderate variable winds marked the passage thence until passing Cape Otway, at 11 o'clock on the 2nd instant. She entered Hobson's Bay the same evening. After discharging passengers and cargo, the Aberdeen left Melbourne on the morning of the 6th instant, and experienced variable weather on the passage round. The Heads were entered shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday evening.

On Monday the steamer Pioneer, which went ashore near Coronella reef a short time ago, was successfully floated into deep water, steamed up to port, and then went alongside of Rountree's dock for repairs. Soon after the accident occurred to the Pioneer, tenders were invited by the Victoria Insurance Company for the work of floating her, and the successful tenderers proved to be Messrs. A. M'Eachran and G. Fredericks, who at once commenced to make arrangements for carrying out the work. The steamer Promise conveyed the contractors and their men round to the scene of the accident on Saturday; and their operations were so carefully conceived and skilfully carried out that Captain Fredericks had the satisfaction of seeing them crowned with success. The Pioneer is but slightly injured, the only damage of any consequence being the absence of one of the screws, which was carried away.

THE S.S. LUSITANIA.

The Orient liner Lusitania (says the Argus), from London, via Suez, anchored in the bay shortly before 7 o'clock on Saturday morning. The Lusitania has brought mail, passengers, and general cargo. No call was made at Adelaide on this occasion, consequently the passengers for that port were few in number. For Melbourne there were 108—namely, 7 saloon, 20 second saloon, and 81 in the third cabin and steerage. For Sydney there are 183, of whom 15 are saloon, 23 are second saloon, and 145 are third cabin and steerage. For New Zealand there are 10 saloon and 8 in the second saloon. All have arrived in good health, and the voyage was rendered as pleasant as tolerable fine weather and a fast vessel could make it. There were 11 bags of mails landed, and the cargo for this port comprises 1258 packages, exclusive of 124 packages of periodicals. The present voyage of the Lusitania has been one of her most successful performances. Its entire duration from Plymouth to Port Phillip was 41 days. This is inclusive of all detentions at the various ports and places of call, and of a three days' stoppage in the canal. The actual steaming time of the trip was 37 days 10 hours 35 minutes. The Lusitania, after taking in passengers and cargo, left London on March 23, and Plymouth at half-past 11 a.m. on March 24. Cape Finisterre was passed on March 26. The gut of Gibraltar was cleared next day, and the Lusitania reached Naples at 4 a.m. on March 31. Moderate winds and fine weather prevailed from the channel across Biscay, and through the Mediterranean to Naples. The Lusitania sailed at a quarter-past 5 p.m. same date, and reached Port Said at a quarter-past 7 a.m. on the 4th ultimo. She left same day for Suez at a quarter to 6 p.m.; but owing to the delays experienced in the Canal from the number of steamers passing through, she did not arrive at Suez until a quarter-past 7 a.m. on the 7th ultimo. She left Suez at 9 a.m. on the 7th ultimo, and in the Gulf and northern portion of the Red Sea had light northerly winds and fine weather. On the last 30 hours before reaching Aden, at 10 p.m. on the 11th instant, strong southerly winds and a high sea were met with. The Lusitania left Aden at 11 a.m. on the 12th ultimo, and fell in with strong easterly winds and a high sea to Cape Guardafui. Thence to the Chagos Group, where she arrived at 5 p.m. on the 19th ultimo, light variable airs from the southward were experienced. After taking in the requisite quantity of coal the Lusitania left Diego Garcia at 7 p.m. on the 20th, and had strong S.E. trades with a high sea until the 25th ultimo. The trades took off in lat. 28° S., and long. 90° E., and thence the weather was characterised by strong westerly winds, with a high, confused sea, and thick, rainy weather. Since the Lusitania left here on June 10 of last year she has had a stirring time of it in the Imperial service. Her special fitness for the conveyance of troops and munitions of war was made abundantly manifest during the time of the war in Egypt, and on her last trip from Alexandria she had 1143 men on board—the largest number which had been carried in one bottom during the campaign. Her official number on the navy list in the transport service was 37, and in that, as well as her own proper name, she was well known as one of the best vessels in the service, and was eagerly looked out for by all the regiments under orders. While at Ismailia the crew assisted the 79th Highlanders, who were on board, at their working parties on shore. The refrigerating machine of the steamer—a Bell-Coleman—was in great request on this as well as on other occasions, and ice was distributed ungrudgingly. From General Sir Garnet Wolseley himself down to the sun-stricken soldiers in hospital, almost every grade had to thank the refrigerator for cool and cooling drinks, and luxuries unobtainable otherwise. At Alexandria the Lusitania, on one occasion, was honoured with a visit from H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught; and Lord Napier, of Magdala, after the resignation of his Governorship of Gibraltar, took passage by the Lusitania to have a look at the scene where the fighting had taken place. Colonel Fendall and the officers of the 53rd, or King's Shropshire Light Infantry, were so pleased with their trip on the Lusitania that they presented Captain Charlton with a massive silver cup, with an inscription and the cipher of the regiment engraved on it. During the seven months the Lusitania was employed in trooping, Captain Charlton and his officers and the steamer were most favourably spoken of, and at Portsmouth Captain Charlton, and Captain Wyatt, of the Nepaul, were paid the special and very unusual compliment of being made honorary members of the Royal Naval Club during their stay there. The steamer, it is almost superfluous to mention, is in thorough order, and the presence of so much military and naval discipline of late has almost given a tone to administrative affairs on board. Mr. Nixon, who was chief officer, has exchanged with Mr. Marris, late chief of the Chimborazo, and a new fourth officer, Mr. W. Gape, has been appointed. Mr. J. C. Globons, senior purser of the Orient line, continues to discharge the duties of his office on the Lusitania. Dr. Lyster Nolan, nephew of the late Mr. W. S. Lyster, is again medical officer of the Lusitania. The engine-room is still under the control of Mr. H. Shearer. The machinery has been doing almost incessant work since the vessel was here before, and there is no question as to its fitness for further work on the return voyage. At daybreak the Lusitania was taken alongside the railway pier, Williamstown, to land passengers and discharge cargo. A good deal of work was got through on Saturday, and the Lusitania will clear out to-day for Sydney. The Lusitania, it will be recollected, was the steamship which inaugurated the Orient line in these colonies; and Captain Hewison, who brought her out on that occasion, is now on board the company's s.s. Orient, which arrived yesterday from Sydney.

In the Import markets another quiet day was noted, there having been a very limited demand for most lines of goods. Breadstuffs are without change in value, with only a limited demand. The balance of last year's shipment of Californian is moving off slowly at £11 10s. Prime samples of wheat cannot be quoted at over 6s. 5d. In tea the business transpiring was in trade lines only. Currants are moving at 4¾d. to 5d.; prime fruit in cases brought 5½d. In fish there is little to note; the City of Sydney's shipment is selling at 8s., higher figures asked by some houses; salt salmon scarcely salable, nominal quotation 4½d. Candles have still an upward tendency, 9d. is still the price of D.R.J.'s, though 9¼d. is asked by some holders. Coarse salt is moving slowly at 72s. 6d., the demand being far from active. No business of importance in groceries, can be noted, stocks generally still being ample. A line of liquorice sold at 10d. Brewers' goods are very dull of sale. In liquors, there was free inquiry for Hennessy's single star brandy, 36s. was paid on the spot, and 35s. for a line to arrive; three star, "to arrive," sold at 50s. being, almost unobtainable on the spot; a line of second-class brandy sold at a price which did not transpire. Lowndes' rum, in quarters, for forward delivery, was placed at 4s. 1½d. A moderate inquiry was noted for Robertson's whisky, at 16s.; a parcel of Balmoral, in half-flasks, to arrive, was quitted, and in Imperial quarters business was done on the spot. For Mumm's champagne, 65s. was paid. In metals little of interest transpired; further business was done in White Cross fencing wire at yesterday's quotations; trade sales of I. C. Coke tinplates were made at 19s. Cement selling up to 17s., with a firm market. For whiting 65s. was paid. From Messrs. Arkell and Douglas' New York circular of 31st March, we learn that during the first 10 days of that month kerosene had advanced about three-quarter cents above last quotation, but towards the close of the month most of the advance had been lost, and the market was weak. Devoe's 150° test, 17¼ cents; 120° test, 12½ cents; patent faucet nozzle, 1 cent per gallon extra. Turpentine, 54¼ cents to 55 cents per gallon. Rosin unchanged; pale amber, 3 dollars 75 cents; dark, 2 dollars 15 cents. Lobsters, dull; the general opinion was that the packing would not be large, and that firm prices would be asked for the new catch; quotations, 1 dollar 25 cents to 1 dollar 35 cents. Oysters, firm, at 102 cents to 105 cents for full weights. Tobacco for export in bond remained without change. Hops also unaltered in value, holders showing more disposition to sell. The departures for the month were: —From New York: Elizabeth Nicholson, with 2000 cases kerosene, and the Oneida, with 1825 cases kerosene, for Sydney; the Henrika, for Brisbane, with 4200 cases; the Minnie H. Gerow, for Melbourne, with 2000 cases; the Nehemiah Gibson, for Adelaide, with 3750 cases; the Gerhard Erwin, for Queensland ports, with 2750 cases. From Boston: The Emily F. Whitney, with 6250 cases. Thirteen vessels were loading for the colonies, including the Antioch, Kelverdale, and Sarah, for Sydney. On the wharfs this morning there was a good supply of produce to hand, and a satisfactory demand existed. The quotations are:—Lucerne hay, £3 10s. to £4; Warrnambool potatoes, £3 to £3 10s.; Victorian oaten chaff, £5 to £5 15s.; straw chaff, £1 to £1 10s.; Melbourne onions, £3 10s. to £3 15s.; maize, 2s. 10d. to 2s. 11d.; oats, seed, 2s. 3d. to 2s. 9d.—feed, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 9d.; Cape barley, 3s. 6d. to 3s. 9d.; butter, 1s. 3d. to 1s. 6d.; eggs, 2s.; cheese, 6d. to 8d.; bacon, 8d. to 11d.; ham, 11d. to 1s.; lard, 6d. to 9d.

Messrs. Fraser and Co. will offer at auction to-morrow (Wednesday) morning, colonial sugars and groceries; and in the afternoon, lumber.

At the leather sales to-day there was no noteworthy alteration in values. Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, John Bridge, Hill, Clark, and Co., and F. L. Barker report having disposed of catalogues at the following ranges of value:—Kip, 11d. to 15½d.; sole, 8d. to 10½d.; damaged, from 6d.; calf, 18d. to 28d.; French calf, 35d.; yearling, 18d. to 24d.; tweed, 11d. to 25d.; harness, 10d. to 13d.; bag, 6s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.; bridle, 7s. to 11s.; basils, 4s. to 12s. 6d.; kangaroo (Australian), 18d. to 24d.

The H. A. Litchfield arrived to-day from New York with a general cargo.

The COLOURED PICTURE, "MY LITTLE GIRL'S GARDEN," By H. R. Johnson
was painted by this celebrated artist especially for this Holiday Number, and has been beautifully reproduced by Messrs. Leighton Brothers, and will be presented GRATIS to all purchasers of the Illustrated London News Holiday Number.
The proprietors of the Illustrated London News have no hesitation in making the bold assertion that never before by any country has such an artistic and attractive number been offered to the public for such a low price as ONE SHILLING.
This number, as announced, will really consist of the first edition of a novel by a popular author—(First editions are usually published in three volumes for 31s 6d); and the novel will be illustrated by leading artists of the day, engraved by the best engravers in Paris and London, in addition to a CHROMO-LITHOGRAPH, after an Academy Picture of a Royal Academician.
N.B.—Last year's holiday number was sold out the first day of issue, consequently very few copies reached the colonies. For this reason, those who wish to ensure obtaining a copy are advised to order at once of their news agent.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1883.

Yesterday we gave our readers some idea of the task which has been undertaken by the State Children's Relief Department. The chief object of the report to which we called attention, however, is to show how the task of the Department is being performed. It will be seen that in the matter of boarding out State children we are behind some of our neighbours. Tasmania, with its much smaller population, has two hundred children in foster homes. The number of children boarded out in South Australia is nearly five hundred, while in Victoria the number in homes seems to be no less than two thousand. In the last-named colony, Dr. Renwick tells us, the new system has "very nearly emptied the institutions. The administrative staff consists of eighteen officials, whose salaries amount in the aggregate to £3296, and the total amount expended upon boarded-out children in 1882 was £25,455, two thousand children being in homes." In this colony, however, the boarding-out system is yet in its infancy. It is only a year or two ago that it received the recognition of the Government. When the Ministry and Parliament committed themselves to the experiment, it was with some hesitation, and not without misgivings. In the view of many the boarding-out system is still in the tentative stage. It cannot be denied that the new method has its dangers. Whether the home system proves superior to the barrack system or not must depend upon the care with which foster-parents are selected, and upon the keeping up of a system of local and vigilant inspection. Dr. Renwick tells us—and those who have had experience in this line will not need to be informed—that in the matter of giving recommendations even clergymen cannot always be trusted. By the use of a little artifice almost anybody can get a recommendation on the ground of character and fitness. Those who are entrusted with the working of the Department, however, appear to fully aware of the evils to be guarded against. They do not take it for granted that children will be properly looked after. In this report it is insisted that the essence of success is perpetual oversight.

This seems to have been remembered hitherto, and with the best of results. If there have been mistakes at all, they have clearly been very few. Judging from the figures given in the annual report there have also been few failures. The number of children under control in 1882 is given as 105; the number in April, 1883, was 307, or an increase of more than two hundred in the twelve months. Among the discharges we have only one boy to the Vernon and one girl to Biloela. Of the 307 children under control 202 were paid for as boarders. As we have already stated, the total cost of the new department for the year ending in April last was about £4000. The average cost per child boarded out is from £17 to £18. The cost per child in the Roman Catholic Orphanage is £14 5s., at Randwick it is £18 2s., at the Protestant Orphanage it is £21 7s., on board the Vernon it is £25 16s., and at Biloela it is £29 3s. Thus it will be seen that, while the cost of the boarding-out system is slightly more than that of two of our institutions, it is considerably less than that of two or three others. Dr. Renwick calls attention to the fact that the difference in favour of the two institutions which cost less per child is but a nominal one. In the estimate of the cost of the working of such an institution as the one at Randwick, no notice is taken of the expenditure on buildings. "If," says the report, "the interest upon the money expended upon the erection of the institution is considered, as it should be when instituting comparisons, the cost of maintaining the children under the barrack system will in no case be found less than £24, and in some instances nearly £30, per annum for every child." According to this view the new system is cheaper than the old one; the question of cheapness, although not to be regarded lightly, is of secondary importance. The best system must be the cheapest one in the long run. Only when a liberal expenditure is not answering its purpose is it a matter for regret.

The contention of the advocates of the boarding-out system is not that the new method is the more economical one; what is held is that it is the best. Experience has shown that if the children of the State are successfully dealt with, it must be first of all by individual attention, and in large institutions this, if secured at all, is secured very imperfectly. Of more importance than this is the question of moral and physical contagion, which, to some extent at least, is the inevitable outcome of the old system of dealing with the offspring of wretched and vicious parents. Every new lesson in health and disease throws fresh light on the danger of grouping the sickly and the vicious in masses. The gloom which has always been associated with asylums, although it may be of less importance, forms a consideration of no small consequence. The poorest of honest homes furnish more light and joy than are usually found in an asylum, and although the foster child may not be bound to the home he enters by ties of kindred, he may come to be bound by ties of affection. "As nearly as it is possible to keep up the conditions," says this report, "boarded-out children become the participators equally with other children in all the joys, all the drawbacks, all the benefits, and all the tribulations of family life; and our Board has had repeated instances of the warmest attachment existing between these little ones and their guardians. The children are rescued from the colourlessness, the dreary monotony of the routine life of asylums." To the advantages named may be added that of the country air and life which the majority of the children entrusted to the Department are privileged to enjoy. Instances are given of children who by their removal from the town to the country have not only been rescued from evil associations but have been restored to health. There are few who will not admit that in regard to children especially these are advantages which the community should strive to secure at almost any cost, and that it is almost impossible to secure them in large metropolitan asylums. Asylums of some kind we may require, at least for some time to come. No one would advise our trusting entirely to the boarding-out system, at least at present. Indeed, Dr. RENWICK points out that there is a class of children who cannot or ought not to be boarded out at all. He contends that nothing will meet the case of the victims of infirmity which are so frequently cast upon the paternity of the State but a supply of cottage homes, or what, would be, in reality, cottage hospitals. For those who are clean and healthy, however, the boarding-out system seems to be answering admirably. There can be no doubt as to whether the system should be continued or not, and, we should say, none as to the utility of its being tried on a much larger scale.

A final report of the Commission appointed to inquire into the working of the South Australian system of education has been presented to the Government. The results will probably disappoint all persons who believed that they had a grievance, and all those who fancied that the schools of the country would be found in a state of chaos and inefficiency. A prima facie case might have been made out to the contrary, from the fact that the chief inspectorship is in the hands of a gentleman having a large experience both in England and here. It ought always to be assumed that men, whose all is staked upon their success, will not spare themselves to obtain the largest and best results. Still, wherever there is a want of confidence there is a good cause for inquiry and report by competent men. A glance at the report is sufficient to see that much the same issues are being worked out in South Australia as among ourselves. There is the demand that we sometimes get for religious instruction in schools. It makes no difference how often or how fully the difficulties of the situation are pointed out; those who believe in their own devices come round again with the same old cry. In their desperation they would concede anything about versions, new or old, only insisting that Bible reading is the one indispensable thing. The Commissioners would not have the Act frequently altered—a very safe suggestion, which has the appearance of being sincere, though followed by advice concerning alterations anent fees, construction of local boards, and the powers of boards, which certainly are meant to be only tentative.

The most important suggestion emanating from the Commissioners relates to compulsion. Unpalatable as that may be, it is now being everywhere accepted as inevitable. The relations of education and morality, of ignorance and crime, appear to be such that until the experiment has been tried and proved of no avail, it will not be admitted that children may grow up in ignorance, as the pleasure or greed of their parents may happen to dictate. Having accepted the principle, the question is how to reduce it to practice so as to secure the best results and yet avoid oppression. Our own Act has been in force for a sufficient length of time to disclose the want of further adaptation in its compulsory clauses. If the Legislature meant anything by them it certainly meant that all children in the country should come under their provisions. But do they? From the prosecutions which have taken place it may be gathered that truant officers deal with two classes of children, that is, those enrolled but not regularly attending, and those found on inquiry to be utterly neglecting all school training. So far, so good; but what about children not included under these heads? The Act allows the plea that a child is being adequately instructed at home, or in private, or church schools. What is meant by being adequately instructed? The truant officer has no authority given by the Act, and therefore has none at all, to enter Denominational schools and private schools. Some of the former will no doubt be glad to avail themselves of his help to hunt up their truants. Since they now entirely depend upon school pence for their support, they will have the money incentive besides all others to get as many pupils as they can. But so far as can be read on the face of the Act, the truant officer has no authority to do this; and should he do it, may we not be told that he is working for the denominations and trying to assist private enterprise? It is one of the unforeseen results of his office. Persons who know the value of education may be supposed to be earnest enough to have their children well taught; but facts are so often dead against reason that it is not safe to assume there is no neglect amongst the upper classes. The South Australian Commissioners recommend various provisions for the better administration of compulsory clauses. Possibly we may learn something from them, not so much from their suggestions as from experiments made thereupon.

The question of locally electing some members of District Boards, and of placing funds at their disposal, opens up debatable ground. The old cry of no representation, no taxation, has only to be reversed, and it bears a good meaning. As a rule it does not work satisfactorily to have money spent by irresponsible persons. Will districts raise a portion of the cost of the schools? if so it is not a matter of concession, but of right, that they have authority to spend some of it. The principle applies also to the election of members to these boards. Who is to elect? and what is to be the basis of the franchise? We are not saying for a moment that Boards ought not to be elected in part by the people, or that they ought not to have funds at their command; but pointing out that the rights of franchise and distribution of money mean that certain preliminary conditions have been complied with. The difficulty with ourselves of having no money at command of the local Board is felt. It ought to be possible to overcome it by such arrangements between the Boards and the Department as would shorten the process of having a few necessary repairs done quickly and cheaply. At present certain departmental machinery has to be set in motion. It takes a good deal of propelling power to do that. The fable of the mountain and the mouse is illustrated by it. Better, of course, have that than a lax and ready way of spending public money; but in all cases there is a middle way, and the proverb has it that it is the safest.

Our neighbours may be congratulated upon a Commissioner's report stating so much as this report does in favour of the system and its administration. All our systems are on their trial, and whoever fancies that the education controversy is at an end may find himself mistaken. A dislike of frequent change will make wise men willing to move slowly. But it would argue our inability to learn by experience if we did not note the necessities ever pressing upon us to adapt all our agencies, both of education and government, to the growing wants of the people. This is far enough removed from the change which allows nothing to work out its issues, and to teach what next ought to be done.

A reminder may be necessary, perhaps, that the Amended Licensing Act is now the law of the land, that its greater privileges are available, and that its penalties may be enforced by the Courts. The changes effected in this difficult and unsatisfactory law will not seriously affect the daily lives of the majority of the people of the colony. It has not opened many new gates, or imposed many new restraints. As has already been pointed out in these columns, the most important change is the provision made for supplying liquor upon railway lines. The alarm which this provision has occasioned will, it is to be hoped, prove a false one. Liquor at the station does not of necessity mean liquor on the tender or the engine; on the contrary, it may tend to keep liquor away from that dangerous locality. The COMMISSIONER FOR RAILWAYS will doubtless recognise the use of this clause and adopt it without delay. The one other important matter to the public is the alteration in the Sunday distance. Instead of five miles the distance is now 20 miles, and thus every watering place about the harbour and the nearer southern waters is placed upon exactly the same footing with those suburbs which are practically but extensions of the town. It will be impossible for any resident of the County of Cumberland to drink as a traveller in a public-house upon a Sunday without making a very wearisome Sabbath day's journey. The distance is, and is intended to be, prohibitory, so far as the drinking which accompanies recreation is concerned. It cannot be said that the distance was arrived at by any calm and logical consideration on the part of hon. members of either House. A host of distances were pitched into a sort of lottery-box and the 20 miles chanced come out. Nor is it necessary to discuss the wisdom of this extreme distance just now. The law has ordained it, and the public must submit to it, or the administrators of the law must enforce its penalties. The law at least will teach people through suffering as by service. They may be wearied of it or accustomed to it by the time Parliament meets again; meantime the very simple duty of all good citizens is to obey.

The case of KARIN v. BROUGHTON AND OTHERS, over a municipal matter at Burwood, gives us a pretty little illustration of the uncertainty of law. There were three points, on any one of which plaintiff was in danger of a nonsuit, and upon one of which he accepted that issue. Defendants offered a reward of £10 to any one who would give information leading to a conviction of any person or persons guilty of personation or double voting. Several persons were caught, so it is alleged, attempting to commit these offences. The legal questions were: Ought not these offenders to be first convicted? Could plaintiff recover £10 for each case? and could he, being a committee man, recover at all? But of more importance than these legal points is the moral one of candidates for municipal, or any other, councils having to resort to such measures to secure fair play. Defendants distinctly affirmed that they were afraid of not getting an honest election. To secure that they resorted to this device. It ought not to be necessary for candidates to do anything of the sort; and should the necessity for it continue something different must be tried. The complications of popular elections are numerous enough as it is, but here is a new phase altogether. It plainly appears not only that, if this was done in earnest, there must be a bad state of things at Burwood, but also that on both sides there is scope for mere trickery. Committees may do this reward business, and not only reflect upon a municipality, but also deter ignorant and timid persons from venturing to record their votes. And, on the other hand, unless real cases of personation and double voting are followed up to a prosecution, informants may play off upon the credulity of unsuspecting candidates. In this instance the man-traps-and-spring-guns policy did not succeed, it is said, and hence the proceedings of the day before yesterday. It was good advice, that of the Judge, that this interesting little quarrel should be made up out of Court, and still better advice would have been that it ought never to have been brought into Court. If personation is carried on at elections it will not be cured by threats of prosecution, but by actual prosecutions. Let the law be rigidly enforced, and there will be no need for offers of private reward.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE Royal College of Music was formally opened by the Prince of Wales on Monday. The Prince expressed his warm thanks to Sir W. J. Clarke, Bart., and Sir Thomas Elder for the scholarships presented by them to the institution. On the occasion of the opening her Majesty conferred the honour of knighthood upon Dr. George A. Macfarren, Dr. George Grove, and Dr. Arthur Sullivan.

O'DONOVAN ROSSA, our cablegrams announce, is actively enrolling men for the purpose of carrying his dynamite policy into effect.

HELMUTH SCHWARTZE, whose name is familiar to many Australians as the principal in the London wool broking firm of Helmuth Schwartze and Company, is dead.

THE Postal Conference did not hold a meeting yesterday, but the members, with the exception of Mr. Morehead, who was unavoidably absent, were taken by the Hon. E. Barton, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, for a drive in a four-horse drag, as far as the La Perouse monument, Botany Bay. They were entertained at dinner in the evening by Mr. Parsons, the delegate from South Australia.

A LARGE deputation, consisting of members of the Patents Act Reform Committee, waited upon the Colonial Treasurer and the Minister of Justice, yesterday, at the office of the Colonial Treasurer, to lay before the Ministers copies of a proposed bill to amend the patent law by facilitating the application for patents and protecting patentees, and to request that the Government would make the draft bill the basis of a measure to be introduced in Parliament next session. Mr. Dibbs and Mr. Cohen expressed entire concurrence in the desire to give inventors every legitimate encouragement to bring their inventions to perfection and to secure the advantages arising from the inventions for themselves; and intimated that a bill to amend the patent law would be prepared, and if other important measures, such as the Land Bill, did not stand in the way, would be introduced next session.

THE evidence of a squatter of long and varied experience, extracted from the Land Inquiry Report, is published in another portion of to-day's issue. This witness says:—"It appears to me most extraordinary that, after the experience of 21 years, the absolute folly of the Land Act of 1861 is not apparent to every one, including its author."

OUR New York correspondent points out that America is no longer heavily in debt to foreign bankers, that there is vast wealth in the country, and that stocks of every staple necessity are enormous; yet wages are receding, which is attributed to the absolute insecurity of the political situation, and the extreme improbability that the nation can extricate itself from the toils of professional politicians. The telephone is making marvellous progress in the States. A conversation was lately held there between New York and Chicago with ease—a distance of 940 miles. The rivalry between telephone and telegraph must soon begin. The local compulsory education, it is stated, after nine years' trial, shows some very satisfactory results. Our correspondent (whose letter will be found in another column) draws attention to the increase in the meat-exporting business.

IN the Supreme Court, yesterday, the Full Court in Banco allowed an appeal from a decision of his Honor the Chief Commissioner in Insolvency in the estate of William Sabine. Davine v. Sorrenson, a D. C. appeal, was struck out. The rule nisi in the matter of Kiss v. Buckley's arbitration was discharged. In ex parte Thomas, a prohibition was granted to a Small Debts Court. In ex parte Smith, re Henderson, a rule was made absolute, with costs, to oust an alderman for the borough of Alexandria; two other rules involving the same point were made absolute without costs. In Gardiner v. Tregorcis, a D. C. appeal, a new trial was granted. In the matter of Owen Turner, a rule nisi for a prohibition to the Small Debts Court at Goulburn was granted, returnable next Tuesday. His Honor Mr. Justice Faucett was again occupied all day in hearing the Equity suit Glasgow v. Stephen and another, which affects the title of the major part of the business sites in the township of Lismore. The case is in many respects a curious one. The hearing will be resumed on Thursday. His Honor will sit in Court this morning to clear off the arrears of Ecclesiastical business, which have been heaped up pending the passage of special legislation to enable the acting Primary Judge to deal with the motions. His Honor intimated that he would not be able to take the applications in Chambers, as such a course would involve the necessity for his signing his name over 300 times. He said the Legislature should have thought of this when the provision was made to enable attorneys to move for probates in Chambers. He could not spare the time to sign his name so often.

HIS Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer sat at the Central Criminal Court, Darlinghurst, until a few minutes to 6 o'clock last evening, having been occupied nearly the whole of the day in hearing evidence with respect to the wounding of the racehorse Terminus, at Hay, on April 15th last. One of the prisoners, J. W. Stewart Macgregor, charged with having maliciously wounded the horse, pleaded guilty, and gave evidence against the other prisoner, William Roberts. As at a few minutes to 6 o'clock his Honor considered it was improbable that the case could be concluded before a very late hour that night, he adjourned the further hearing until half-past 9 o'clock this morning, when it is probable counsel will address the jury, and his Honor will sum up. The first prisoner placed in the dock yesterday was a young man named Palmer Bushel, who pleaded guilty to having, in a fight, killed one David Everingham. Bushel was remanded for sentence.

THE Royal Commission of Inquiry into the construction of theatres, public halls, and other places of public amusement have recommenced their sittings. It will be recollected that so long ago as August last the Commission presented a progress report, embodying a series of suggestions, the adoption of which would practically secure the safety of the public or materially lessen the risk. Having completed their labours thus far, it was necessary for the Commission to await the result of their inquiry into the course adopted by the authorities of important cities in Great Britain and abroad for similar objects. The Government having, at the instance of the Commission, communicated with the Agent-General, prompt steps were at once taken by the Imperial Government to collect the information sought. Some valuable documents have already been received, which are now engaging the attention of the Commission.

A MEETING of the City Council was held yesterday, at which the question of obtaining a chain of office for the Mayor of Sydney was discussed. After it had been debated, a division of the aldermen present was taken, with the result that the ayes and noes were even. The Mayor then gave his casting vote against the proposal, which was consequently negatived. The subject of establishing salt-water baths in the city was then considered. The council decided that such baths were necessary, and it was agreed to invite the Mayors of the various suburban boroughs whom it was thought concerned in the matter to a conference relative thereto, at an early date. The city surveyor was ordered to report in the meantime upon the cost, &c., of providing and maintaining pumping power on the sea coast of sufficient capacity to supply not less than 1,000,000 gallons of salt water daily for baths, street watering, and other purposes. Two tenders were received for the fixing of glass dials to the Town Hall tower clock, but as they did not adhere to the specifications they were rejected. It was understood that shortly the matter should again be brought before the council, and it was intimated that the question of obtaining a new clock would be considered at the same time.

AT an adjourned meeting of the Board of Sheep Directors for the district of Sydney, held at the office of the Chief Inspector of Stock, yesterday afternoon, Mr. Anthony Willows, M.R.C.V.S., London, was unanimously nominated to the position of Inspector of Stock for the metropolitan district, which had become vacant by the recent resignation of Mr. George S. Yeo. Mr. Willows will be remembered as having lately made an inspection of the flocks, and conducted an inquiry with respect to the outbreak of "anthrax," Cumberland disease, in the Lachlan district. His report, which is a very able one, has been printed, by order of the Legislative Assembly.

A SPECIAL general meeting of the Phonographic Association of New South Wales was held at the High School, Phillip-street, last evening. Mr. S. Cook occupied the chair. There was a good attendance of members. The principal business of the meeting was to take steps to extend the usefulness of the society, and to bring it more prominently before the public. It was stated that the classes for the teaching of shorthand had been well attended, and the pupils were becoming proficient in the art, but it was desirable that more reporting practice should be afforded by the association for advanced members, and that the general meetings at which addresses were given should be held more regularly. It was decided to take into consideration at the next general meeting questions respecting reorganising the classes for learners, the institution of annual examinations in speed, skill in reading notes, &c., and that the society should grant certificates to proficient members, and that an annual list of members should be published.

A MEETING of the Sydney Canary Society was held on Monday evening at the Society's Rooms, Oddfellows' Hall, Elizabeth-street, Mr. T. Crow in the chair. Amongst those present we noticed Messrs. R. Marklove, J. Dean, vice-presidents; W. Crow, hon. treasurer; Lloyd, Collins, Brown, Grecott, Mason, Fletcher, King, E. Hall, Berne, T. Crow, Neil, R. N. Johnson (hon. secretary). Minutes of last meeting having been read and confirmed, the prizes won at the late show were paid over, with the exception of those won by Messrs. J. Brown and H. Sandon, which were withheld pending a satisfactory proof of ownership of birds exhibited by them being made to the committee. A vote of thanks to Mr. Dean was proposed in very nice terms by Mr. C. P. Collins, and seconded by Mr. Marklove, who defended Mr. Dean against the charge made respecting his judging, and expressing a hope the committee might long have the pleasure of his assistance in adjudging awards at further shows. Mr. Dean suitably replied, promising the society his support. It was purely a matter of love for canaries that made him undertake the duties, and so long as he judged fanciers might expect fair play and no favour from him. The balance-sheet was also read, the credit balance was carried forward, and several special prizes were promised for the next annual show.

A MEETING of the provisional committee of the Geographical Society of Australasia took place on Monday evening, at the Free Public Library, to consider the draft of the constitution adopted by the sub-committee appointed at the last meeting. The Hon. W. A. Brodribb, M.L.C., was voted to the chair, and addressed the meeting, informing the members that he had received letters from the Surveyors-General of various colonies, who, in answer to his request, had forwarded to the society maps and geographical documents. The Surveyor-General of Victoria had also expressed himself greatly pleased at the prospect of the foundation of a Geographical Society of Australasia, and the movement had his earnest support; he would be glad to co-operate, and wished the society every success. Mr. Brodribb was informed that maps were forwarded by his directions to the society. He then called upon the secretary to read the minutes of the last meeting, and give an account of the work done. The secretary, Mr. E. Marin La Meslée, stated that since the last meeting he has received letters and telegrams from gentlemen desirous of becoming members, amongst whom he would mention:—Mr. John Wilson, the chairman of the Cambridge Gulf Pastoral Association, who lately equipped and sent out Messrs. Carr Boyd and O'Donnell to explore the property of the company on the Ord River in North-West Australia; Mr. J. Shillinglaw, late librarian at the Royal Geographical Society of London, now residing in Melbourne, and others. There was a marked desire on the part of our Victorian neighbours to co-operate with us and promote the success of the society. A letter was handed over to him later in the evening from the Bishop of Melanesia, the Right Rev. Dr. Selwyn, who regretted not being able to attend the meeting; but feeling that the society would do a great deal of good, he would lend his assistance and give all information that might be of interest. The secretary then stated that the number of members had greatly increased since their last meeting, the number of names on the list being now up to nearly 150, amongst whom he would mention those of the Hon. J. P. Abbott, Minister for Mines; the Hon. G. R. Dibbs, Colonial Treasurer; the Hon. J. S. Farnell, Minister for Lands; the Hon. F. Lord, Messrs. E. C. Cracknell, P. R. Walker, &c. The business of the evening was then proceeded with, and the various articles of the draft constitution considered seriatim. There was a very interesting debate, and more than half of the articles of the constitution were disposed of, but another meeting of the committee will be necessary to complete the work; the result of the debates will then be published. The meeting broke up at half-past 10, after a vote of thanks having been passed to the chairman.

A MEETING of the residents of Waverley, presided over by the Mayor, Mr. W. H. Simpson, was held last night at the Council-chambers in that borough, the object being to take into consideration the new time-table issued for the Waverley line by the Tramway Department. The room was crowded. It was unanimously agreed that the district was being treated in a most unjustifiable manner by the Government, and that the tram accommodation provided was altogether inadequate for the requirements of the locality; and a resolution embodying this expression of opinion was carried without dissent. There was, however, a great difference of opinion as to the manner in which the present arrangements should be improved upon. Alderman Macpherson proposed that the Government should be asked to run trams every quarter of an hour between the hours of 7 and 10 in the morning and of 4 and 7 in the afternoon, and every half-hour during the rest of the day. An amendment was moved to the effect that the trams should be run every 20 minutes; and between the two proposals the meeting was pretty equally divided. After a good deal of discussion the question was put by the chairman, who had great difficulty in determining which side was in the majority, but eventually he decided in favour of Mr. Macpherson's motion. The declaration was received with marked disapprobation by the supporters of the amendment, and some time was wasted in an attempt on their part to reopen the question. A resolution was afterwards passed affirming the desirability of adopting the system of penny fares on the sections between Queen-street and the Tea Gardens, and between the Tea Gardens and the terminus. It was also decided to request the department to erect waiting rooms at several points on the line. The Mayor, Alderman Macpherson, and the two members for the electorate were appointed to form a deputation to wait upon the Minister for Works with the view of giving effect to the resolutions. A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.

THE fourth annual exhibition of the Hawkesbury District Agricultural Association will be held on the last three days of the week, the show ground being as usual a portion of the Hawkesbury racecourse. With the object of accommodating visitors from this city, the committee of the association have so arranged that a special excursion train will start from Redfern at 8.15 a.m. on Thursday. This will arrive at the show ground before judging commences, and it will leave Clarendon on its return journey at 6 p.m. On the other days the ordinary train at 9 a.m. will be available for visitors from Sydney. It is probable that the show will be one of the best held by the association. The Hawkesbury district is one which at all times can make a good display of horse stock, and there are within its bounds many good herds of cattle. The novel attractions of the forthcoming show will be two trotting matches—one for horses, the other for mares. Good pacing will be displayed in each. It is also promised that the two celebrated trotting stallions, Childe Harold and Vermont, jun., will be paraded each day of the show.

SUCH satisfactory progress has been made in connection with the establishment of a School of Arts at Randwick that the committee have decided to open the reading-room on the 21st instant, and the library on the 1st June. Since the holding of the first meeting of the inhabitants of the borough more than ordinary interest has been evinced in the success of the movement, and it must be very gratifying to the honorary treasurer to receive the spontaneous and liberal contributions, in so short a time, as those published in our columns of yesterday. Other evidences of interest have been given by donations of books, all of which were reported at a meeting of the committee, at the Town Hall, on Monday evening last. At this meeting many matters of interest were discussed, including the advisability of having an inaugurating entertainment, the appointing of a sub-committee to make a selection of books and periodicals, the delivery of periodical lectures, and the formation of a chess and draughts class. In connection with the debating association, a synopsis of its intended proceedings was submitted and approved, in addition to other business of a pertinent character. The first meeting will take place on Monday next, by the delivery of three addresses. The subjects of two are:—"The Principles and Practice of Phonetic Shorthand," and "Reminiscences of my trip to Europe via America." The other will doubtless prove equally interesting.

THE United Ancient Order of Druids held their annual picnic on Monday at Chowder Bay. The steamers Commodore, Prince of Wales, and Quondong plied at short intervals to and from the picnic grounds during the day, and, notwithstanding the threatening appearance of the morning, about 800 persons availed themselves of the day's pleasure. The sports consisted of footraces, quoit matches, dancing, &c., the races being very well contested. The chief event of the day, the All-comers Race, of 150 yards, was won by J. Shirley. A number of toys was distributed among the children, and every effort made by the committee to make the visitors enjoy themselves. The Young Australian and Mercantile bands were engaged, and gave the utmost satisfaction.

A YOUNG Australian sculptor, Edgar B. Mackennal, who has friends in Sydney, and who went to London about a year ago to continue his art studies, has been distinguishing himself, having three times gained the premiership of the students for both painting and sculpture, in the studio of the well-known artist Mr. Thorneycroft. Mr. Mackennal is not yet 19 years old. He was sent home to study under Marshall Wood, but that distinguished sculptor having died before his arrival, he was taken in hand by Mr. Thorneycroft.

A CORRESPONDENT writes complaining of carelessness on the part of some of the tramway officials in not giving due notice when a tram is about to cross a street not stopping. He states that while several vehicles were being driven up King-street on Monday afternoon, and when one or two were about to cross, a motor came along and crossed the street without any warning being given by either the driver or the man stationed at the crossing with a flag, and that there was a very narrow escape from a serious accident.

MR. DILLON, chairman of the Licensing Bench, remarked, yesterday afternoon, at the conclusion of the Court, that probably it was the last time the Bench would sit as a Court held weekly for the hearing of offences under the Licensing Act, as in future, in accordance with the provisions of the Amending Act, section 29, it will be competent to hear them—with a few exceptions—in the Court of Petty Sessions, before one magistrate. The excepted cases are, "where the holder of a license is summoned to show cause against the cancellation of a license, or where the Court may order a license to be cancelled or forfeited, or a licensee to be disqualified." It is, however, just possible that next week another Court will be held, if it is found that cases brought on informations laid before the amending Act came into operation cannot be dealt with under the new provision, but must be heard in accordance with the procedure of the principal Act.

AT the Central Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Clarke, S.M., Inspector Webber charged Charles Deacon with cruelty to a horse: it was in miserable condition and had large wounds on the back and girth. He was fined £5.

AN accident occurred on the railway at Blacktown, about 7 o'clock on Monday night. The brakevan and about 20 trucks were disengaged from a train to allow other trucks to be connected, and by some means they broke away, and ran through some points down a siding, and gained such an impetus that they went over an embankment about 20 feet high. The brakevan was considerably damaged, and a man who was inside, named Thomas Garry, was found insensible amongst the debris, with a log of timber lying across his lumbar region. He was brought to, and conveyed to the Sydney Hospital. On examination it was found that he had a semi-lacerated scalp wound 2 inches long at the back of the head, the lower lip was badly torn, and there was a good deal of bruising on the left arm, near the right side of the abdomen, and over the left hip. He complained, too, of tenderness over the right kidney. He was admitted to the accident ward.

YESTERDAY morning an accident occurred at the establishment of Messrs. W. S. Friend and Co., ironmongers, York-street. One of the employees named Richard Fenelon, who had charge of a 6 h.p. gas engine, found it necessary to clear a small orifice in the back plate of the cylinder by inserting a piece of wire. He then struck a match for the purpose of seeing if the aperture was clear, when the gas in the cylinder suddenly exploded, scorching his face, and singeing off the eyebrows, eyelashes, and moustaches. He went to the Sydney Hospital, and had the injuries dressed.

THOMAS HOPKINS, one of the miners engaged on the Nepean Waterworks, met with a severe accident on Monday afternoon. He was attempting to disengage a spring bar which had become entangled in the tail of a horse he was leading, when the animal swerved suddenly, knocked him down, and jumped on him. This occurred about 6 o'clock. He was taken to Liverpool in order to be sent down to Sydney by the train, but missed it, and had to wait till yesterday morning. He reached the Sydney Hospital about half-past 8, when it was found that he had sustained a fracture of the right leg, attended with much swelling. He was admitted.

THE committee of the Wharfage Improvement Association will present their report to the subscribers this afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, when the designs to which the premiums have been awarded will be exhibited and explained by the successful competitors.

A PUBLIC meeting is to be held this evening at the School of Arts, St. Leonards, to take steps to perpetuate the memory of the late Mr. William Tucks, whose services in connection with the progress and improvement of St. Leonards were valuable and extended over many years. JUNCTION of the VICTORIAN and NEW SOUTH WALES RAILWAYS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, TUESDAY.

The Melbourne Argus to-day, in discussing the proposal to have two changing stations on the intercolonial railway, condemns it as absurd, and argues that both economy and convenience require that all the business resulting from the break of gauge should be concentrated at one spot, adding that those who have visited the district will admit that that spot is Albury. The Argus entirely disagrees with the remark by Mr. Berry during his interview with Mr. Stuart on Thursday, that the question was not one of economy, but that political considerations were involved, and that Victoria must protect the interests of her own population at Wodonga. The Argus says:—"If Wodonga property is to be improved at the expense of the State, the benefit conferred could be only temporary, for in a very short time, if Ministerial promises were to be redeemed, the railways would be under non-political control, and one of the very first things business-like managers would then do would be to sweep away all extravagant arrangements which the Victorian Chief Secretary considers essential to the prosperity of Wodonga." The article, after an expression of regret at the determination arrived at by the Ministry, suggests that it is not too late now to review the whole case.

SERIOUS OMNIBUS ACCIDENT.

MELBOURNE, TUESDAY.

A serious omnibus accident happened near the Fitzroy Gardens this afternoon, by which some of the passengers—of whom there were nine altogether—were seriously injured. The omnibus was proceeding from Richmond to Melbourne, and was being driven down-hill, alongside the Fitzroy Gardens, when one of the reins broke. The driver, Thomas Wells, an experienced and careful man, endeavoured to pull the horses round and make them face the hill again, but the startled animals bolted down the hill at a furious pace along the Jolimont-road; then suddenly turning sharply round a corner, the vehicle capsized. The windows with their framework were all smashed to atoms. Of the six inside passengers, Miss Gibb, an elderly lady over 70 years of age, a resident of Brighton, was much hurt, and rendered helpless. Miss Murton, of Fitzroy, Miss Gaskell, of Richmond, and Mr. Caldon, of East Melbourne, were all badly bruised, and severely shaken. Two passengers were sitting on the box seat with the driver, one of whom, a young man named G. Turnbull, had his left arm broken, and his face greatly disfigured. The driver was very badly hurt; he was picked up in a helpless state, and it is believed that his right thigh was broken. He and three other passengers were removed to the hospital. The hospital surgeons are unable to ascertain yet the precise nature of the injuries sustained by the driver. Miss Gibb, another of the inside passengers, has sustained a fracture of the arm, and injuries to her back; she is also suffering from very severe shock. Miss Gaskell has, in addition to other wounds a severe cut, four inches long, on her forehead. She is suffering from severe bruises on the shoulder, and sustained a severe shock.

At the sitting of the Tariff Commission to-day, some of the principal flour millers advocated the removal of the duty on wheat, patent machinery, and bags, and the duty on oats. After reviewing the political events of the past few years, he spoke in favour of payment of members, triennial Parliaments, and claimed that the Government had been virtually defeated on the Coolie question and the Warrego Railway Bill. He disclaimed any intention to ruin the sugar planters, but said they could not afford to benefit any industry at the expense of the whole colony. He was opposed to the introduction of coolies, because the presence of a servile race was incompatible with our free institutions; and he contended that they could not be confined to any class of labour. He referred at length to the transcontinental railway, and reiterated his previous argument against it. He was in favour of increased pastoral rents, with more secure tenure, and also a general progressive policy with regard to railway construction and public

The vessel brought a quantity of rice in bags from Singapore, and on arrival the bags and contents were found damaged, as it was alleged, through the effect of contact with Singapore cedar stowed in the hold. On the other hand, deterioration of the rice was attributed to the sweating of the grain itself. NEWCASTLE, TUESDAY.

Mr. Ritchie, of the Wickham Works, met his men this evening, principally the carriage workers on strike, and went fully into the case. The weather is fine.

ALBURY, TUESDAY.

Further inquiry into the circumstances connected with the recent escape from Albury gaol only make the affair still more mysterious. Mr. Thomas Allen, the governor of the gaol, is quite certain that the prisoner Anderson was in the cell when he (Allen) locked the doors on Sunday night. The keys then remained in Allen's possession till Monday morning, and in the meantime Warder Gardiner continued all night on duty in the corridor, into which the cell opens. A hole has been found in the roof of the upper story of the gaol building, through which the prisoner is supposed to have gained the yard, but how he got into the corridor remains a mystery. Mr. Maclean, the Comptroller-General of Prisons, purposes holding a searching investigation into the whole circumstances; and in the meantime Mr. Maunsell, the visiting justice, has suspended Warder Gardiner. The prisoner when leaving the gaol had no boots, and it has since been ascertained that a man supposed to be Anderson broke into the Rose Hotel at 2 o'clock on Monday morning and stole a pair of boots.

Further light rains fell to-day, and the weather is still unsettled.

CASINO, TUESDAY.

The Richmond River Agricultural Society's Show opened to-day. The weather was fine. The attendance exceeded that of last year. The horse section was particularly well represented, and the show of draught stock was especially noticeable for the excellence of quality displayed. There was a good muster of 10st. and 12st. hackneys, and also some excellent jumpers, between which there was keen competition. Likewise in the section for buggy and carriage horses. The exhibits of farm produce were not numerous, but they were remarkably good in their respective kinds. The cattle will be exhibited to-morrow, when the awards will be made known.

At a railway meeting held last night, which was well attended, resolutions were carried urging the adoption of the route between North Grafton and Tenterfield, with a branch to the Richmond River.

A considerable quantity of rain has fallen here, which will have a very beneficial effect. The registered rainfall is 1 inch. There is every appearance of more rain coming. The Macintyre River is at present very low.

YOUNG, TUESDAY.

Great annoyance is felt here owing to a rumour that the railway contractors for the line to Young have applied for 12 months' extension for the completion of their contract. The reason for the application is said to be their inability to obtain possession of the land on which the State school is built. As the Mechanics' Institute is available for school purposes a meeting will probably be held to protest against the delay.

We had nice rain on Sunday, which will enable the farmers to complete their ploughing.

The Burrangong Pastoral and Agricultural Society have issued a programme for the show to be held in September. The list of prizes, apart from specials, is the largest ever issued by this prosperous society.

BOURKE, TUESDAY.

Since the coming into force in the Bourke district of the Pastures and Stock Protection Act, 403 native dogs have been paid for by the board at 10s. per head.

The Government water-boring party at the second bore at No. 1 site—between here and the Warrego River—were down last night 170 feet, after working three weeks and one day. This is considered very good work. In one week 60 feet were bored, but no water has been struck since reaching a depth of 147 feet, and then only a salt mud spring. At present there are no indications of the proximity of water appearing, while in the previous bore, the one which had to be abandoned on account of the tubing flooding, water was struck at 168 feet. Feed for cattle and water are both getting scarce in the vicinity of No. 1 bore. The non-arrival of tools and tubing for continuing the work has delayed operations, but the required implements are reported to be now on the road, and may be expected very shortly.

THE TURF.

Yesterday Morecatu came into the market with some force for the Royal Stakes, and 1000 to 100 was accepted, but Hawthornden still held his own at 100 to 12, while anything more than 100 to 10 would have been accepted about Boniface or Gloucester. For the Queen's Birthday Cup 100 to 12 was forthcoming on the field, Cunnamulla being most fancied, and Ascot, who ran so well at Dubbo last week, was in considerable demand at 100 to 10. Creswick was inquired about, but offers to lay 100s to 10 were declined.

Telegrams from Adelaide state that it was raining there all day yesterday, and that Coriolanus was not so firm for the Adelaide Cup, in consequence of a rumour having gained circulation that he had been beaten in a trial by Doncaster. The following prices will indicate the state of the market: 2 to 1 v. The Plunger; 3 to 1 v. Guesswork; 7 to 1 each v. Doncaster and First Water; 8 to 1 v. Coriolanus; 10 to 20 to 1 v. any other. Pollio has been scratched, and Topaz is regarded as being the best outsider. Tyropean and Bassanio are most in favour for the Goodwood Handicap.

COURSING.

NEW SOUTH WALES COURSING CLUB.—A meeting of the committee of the New South Wales Coursing Club was held yesterday at Tattersall's Rooms, when there were present—Messrs. A. Town (in the chair), W. R. Hall, R. L. Tooth, W. Cooper, Lee Lord, T. Smith, Walter Lamb, G. Thornton, C. C. Skarratt, A. L. Park, J. Weir, H. M'Quade, and Dr. Belisario. The formal business having been disposed of, Mr. H. M'Quade proposed that in future no double nominations be allowed until all the single nominations are satisfied, and that stakes of £5 and under be unlimited as to the number of entries. The chairman, in support of this motion, expressed his opinion that it was desirable in the interests of coursing to induce the middle classes to take part in the sports. Without interfering with the larger and limited stakes, it was highly necessary that small kennels should be encouraged, and the sport brought within the reach of all. The resolution was carried unanimously. Messrs. G. Lee Lord and W. Cooper were unanimously elected as delegates to the National Coursing Club of Australia. The secretary announced that over £50 had been taken at the gates at the late Bowral meeting. At the conclusion of the business Mr. R. L. Tooth proposed the health of the winners at the late meeting, coupled with the name of Mr. W. R. Hall, part-owner of Huntress, the winner of the principal stake—the Eridge Park Cup. He said the coursers of New South Wales had serious business coming on in the proper representation of the colony in the great Waterloo Cup meeting over the border, and he looked to Messrs. Hall and Kite to furnish a good greyhound to contest for the blue riband of the leash in Australia. He wished success to Mr. Hall, and success to his kennel. Mr. Hall modestly responded, stating that he considered he had been lucky at the late meeting, and though Huntress had proved herself a good greyhound, he thought he had a better one in the kennel. Mr. Hall then proposed the health of Mr. Tooth, eulogising that gentleman for his princely hospitality, and the sport he had provided for them at Bowral. After Mr. Tooth's health had been drunk with enthusiasm, he said in response that the work and trouble he had experienced in forming his enclosed ground and providing the hares had proved a labour of love, and the success of the meeting had more than rewarded him. What would please him greatly would be to see a Waterloo meeting inaugurated by the New South Wales Coursing Club in this colony. The enclosure next to the one just coursed over was 1000 yards long, and that he thought would be quite long enough for Waterloo candidates. If the club would inaugurate such a stake, he would be happy to place his ground at their disposal. Mr. Tooth thanked those present for the honour they had conferred on him in drinking his health. Mr. Lee Lord, in proposing the "Health of Mr. C. C. Skarratt," the slip steward at the late meeting, said that gentleman had worked harder than any official on the ground during the two days. A young man of 21 years of age could not have shown more energy, and the grand success they had achieved at the Bowral meeting was, in his opinion, largely due to Mr. Skarratt's indefatigable exertions. Mr. Skarratt, in reply, said it gave him extreme pleasure to be thus spoken of; and he assured those present that, so long as he had health and strength, coupled with their confidence, he would do his best to promote the sport. Mr. Hall then proposed the "Healths of the Losers," to which Dr. Belisario and Mr. George Thornton suitably responded. The following stakes were paid to the gentlemen undermentioned:—Messrs. Hall and Kite, £82, and Eridge Park cup, value £25; Messrs. Lamb, £31; Messrs. Hill and Weir, £32; Mr. A. Town, £34; Mr. R. L. Tooth, £24; Hon. E. K. Cox, £14; Mr. W. Cooper, £10; Mr. A. L. Park, £7; and Mr. H. M'Quade, £5; making a total of £364 in stakes.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs that the Australian Coursing Club has decided to include the Victorian Stakes in their programme of the Stormont Plate Meeting, to be held on the 25th and 26th instant. The stake will be for eight greyhounds whelped prior to 1878.

CRICKET.

ALEXANDRIA V. PENINSULA C.C.—These elevens met at Double Bay on Saturday last, the result being an easy victory for the local team by 96 runs and six wickets to fall. The visitors, who went in first to bat, were unable to make any stand against the excellent bowling of J. Macinto h and H. Ellis, the total being 52, of which Noble contributed 12. At the call of time the Alexandrias had lost four wickets for 137, T. Van Heekeren making 21, T. Ridley 35, and W. Smithers, not out, 55; Champion being the only bowler who appeared to give any trouble.

PEDESTRIANISM.

The "International Walking Match" which took place at the Exhibition building, Prince Alfred Park, last week, having terminated in favour of W. Edwards, the stakes were handed over to him at Punch's Hotel. A silver cup, the gift of Mr. W. H. Spofforth, was also presented to him as a momento of the victory. Several speeches were made and a number of toasts drunk. O'Leary, the defeated contestant, was not present.

AQUATICS.

NEW SOUTH WALES ROWING ASSOCIATION.—The committee of the New South Wales Rowing Association met on Monday last. A letter was read from the Hon. John Marks, intimating his desire to send the medals that he has given for the Victorian crew to Melbourne for presentation by Mr. Justice Williams at the rowing dinner there. The medals are being struck from the association's die at the Sydney Mint. A great number of new members were elected, and from the treasurer's report it appears that the Rowing Association is in a more flourishing condition than it has ever been before. The business in connection with the forthcoming Krug Amateur Sculling Race was then entered into. The race is to take place on June 16, entries to close on the 2nd proximo. It was resolved that two full-powered steamers be engaged to follow the competitors. A sub-committee, consisting of Messrs. Anslow, Blackman, Ickerson, A. Fraser, R. Bennett, and the hon. treasurer, were appointed to carry out all arrangements connected with this contest. Letters were read from Mr. E. Carlile, on behalf of the Victorian visitors, and from Mr. G. Upward, for the Victorian crew, acknowledging the kindness shown by the executive officers and by a great many members of the association during their stay here; also to Mr. C. A. Jeanneret for the use of a steamer during the Hawkesbury trip. The secretary was directed to write to Mr. J. P. Garvan, M.L.A., thanking him for valuable services rendered.

At a meeting of the Victorian Rowing Association, held this evening, Mr. Upward, the stroke in the intercolonial crew, when reporting upon the visit of the crew to Sydney, spoke very highly of the kindness they had received, and it was decided that letters conveying the thanks of the Association should be written to Messrs. Rodd and Betts, of Ryde; Mr. Coles, secretary of the New South Wales Rowing Association; and Mr. M'Leod. The total expenses of sending the crew to Sydney were only £95. The proposal for a banquet to the Victorian crew is under consideration.

THE POSTAL CONVENTION.

The Conference did not sit yesterday, but will meet again this forenoon at 11 o'clock. It appears that in the documents prepared for the use of the Conference by the heads of the Postal Departments of the various colonies, these gentlemen say:—"While contributions based on population would be a fair arrangement if the three mail routes were equally serviceable for postal purposes to all the colonies, it is otherwise in the present case; for instance, on the population basis South Australia, which makes little or no use of the Torres Straits route, would have to pay a larger amount towards that service than Queensland. The London office, regarding the existing arrangement for the division of postage between the United Kingdom and the Australasian colonies as unnecessarily complicated and inconvenient, has notified, in a despatch addressed to the Government of Victoria, its intention to cancel the present agreement, and substitute an arrangement of a much more simple character. . . . It is now proposed by the London Office:—(a) That the colonies should retain the whole of the postage collected on homeward correspondence. (b) That on the outward mails the United Kingdom should account to all the colonies alike for 2d. per letter only, keeping the balance of the letter postage on packets and newspapers, and defraying the cost of European transit both ways. Should it be decided not to join the Union, the adoption of the London proposal would mean additional loss upon most of the colonies. The increased loss that would be sustained by joining the Union over and above that incurred under present arrangements on account of steam postal communication with Europe (the cost being now much below that which had been borne during many years past) would be somewhat considerable, but in compensation for this immediate loss, the public would derive the benefit of a cheaper and uniform rate of postage. . . . We venture to add, as the result of our long experience in postal matters, that reduced uniform charges would tend very speedily to increase the correspondence to such an extent as to make up any temporary loss that might be sustained apart from other direct and indirect advantages which, we think, would certainly be secured."

In the minute prepared by Mr. Lambton, that gentleman says:—"Of the sum of £30,000, the London office calculates that £17,000 would fall to the share of New Zealand and New South Wales. Admitting the correctness of the London office estimate, our share of this sum, say £8000, would recoup us for any loss sustained by reason of the different arrangements with England for division of the postage; and the loss that we would sustain would be in connection with the reduced rate of postage charged here—i.e., only 6d. instead of 8d. via Brindisi, and 5d. instead of 6d. via San Francisco, and the obligation to convey the mails of other colonies at the Union rates, namely, 11-20d. per single letter, and 3 1-5d. per lb. for newspapers on European mails, and 1½d. per letter and 4½d. per lb. for newspapers on American mails. It is very difficult to form a reliable estimate of what this loss would be, especially as the fortnightly Brindisi route at a 5d. rate would no doubt draw a large amount of the correspondence now sent via San Francisco—and in regard to this correspondence the Victorian Government, as the subsidiser of the line, would be the greater sufferer. Then, again, any possible arrangement that might be made with the Orient Company would probably be such as would not involve any actual loss to us; thus clearly showing that, as regards joining the convention, any correspondence sent by the European route would not entail any loss whatever upon us, whilst, as regards the San Francisco service—having renewed the contract on so much lower terms, and only for two years, and as our share of the postages from the other colonies at present only amounts to £2500 a year—our loss on this score would not be very great; but of course there would be the loss here in conveying our own letters at 1d. per ½oz. less than we are now charging. If, however, the 6d. rate can really be charged, it would seem that no ground whatever can exist for financial reasons for any longer withholding our consent from joining the Union, provided it is understood that we do so unpledged to share the subsidies of any other mail lines but that via San Francisco, and that it be understood we may continue to charge 6d. by all routes. This appears the proper place to remark that Victoria, who has been moving somewhat energetically towards inducing the colonies to join the Union during the past two years, distinctly stipulates that the colonies joining should share the loss it (Victoria) sustains on its present Galle contract; or, in other words, that they share the subsidy with Victoria in proportion to the use they make of the line—Victoria, of course, offering to do the same with regard to the contracts of her neighbours. The effect of this, however, would be that, in addition to our subsidy via San Francisco, we should have to pay to Victoria, in aid of her Galle line, a sum of £5000 or £6000 a year, whilst what we should get from Victoria as her contribution to the San Francisco line would be, under the present subsidy, about £1800, or, under the reduced subsidy, very much less; in fact, it would be almost infinitesimal. . . . With regard to the principal stipulation under which Victoria proposed, in 1881, that the colonies should join the union, viz., that the various colonies using the line should share the net loss sustained by Victoria in the maintenance of the Suez mail service—the share of such loss being computed by them at £6860 per annum—it may be right to mention that, owing to the increased use this colony seems to have made of the Victorian line, the net cost to us last year was about £1700, showing that an agreement to the proposed Victorian terms would really only entail an additional burden upon this colony of about £1100 per annum, which, as far as the estimates which it was possible to prepare will show, would, if we joined the union, represent the net cost of our ocean mail services, as the Imperial Government would, if we expressed, make up the loss consequent on the different arrangements to be made for the division of their postage; whilst the smaller cost at which the San Francisco contract has been renewed would leave little expense in connection with that service, and any contract with the Orient Company would doubtless also provide against any actual loss."

AMUSEMENTS.

Arising from the additional practice which the elder children of the Randwick Asylum have had, through the establishment of a Band of Hope, in connection with musical and literary exercises, the Superintendent (Mr. Thomas) made arrangements for the giving of a musical and literary entertainment at the asylum last evening, at which a large number of friends of the institution were present, including Mr. G. Renwick, Mr. C. J. Christie, Mr. Oram, Mr. Dunning (Mayor of Randwick), and Mr. A. White. The programme was lengthy and varied; the songs, duets, trios, dialogues, and recitations carefully selected, and the arrangements made for the comfort of the visitors all that could be desired. Special attention was given to the children's requirements, and judging from the pleasing countenances of the little folks, they enjoyed, and, indeed, considered themselves part, of one of the most successful entertainments ever given at the asylum. It could not have been otherwise than obvious that a great improvement has been effected in the singing and reciting of the children, and in addition to the pleasure afforded by occasionally indulging in these enjoyable exercises they must prove an important auxiliary in the improvement of their minds, and in the refinement of their tastes. Every one present seemed to enjoy themselves very much indeed, and the assistance which Mrs. White was pleased to accord in the playing of some beautiful selections on the pianoforte contributed largely to the success of the entertainment, and the pleasure of all concerned. Mr. Thomas presided, and at the close a hearty vote of thanks was given him for presiding, on the motion of Mr. Renwick.

James Tipton's service of song, "Little Dot," was sung last evening in St. Simon's and St. Jude's Church, Surry Hills, by the children attending the Sunday-school in connection with that place of worship. The building was crowded with auditors, and the song service throughout proved to be very enjoyable. The Rev. Mr. Colvin presided, and opened the meeting. For the past five weeks, Mr. N. C. Neal, the conductor, and Miss Prince, the organist, have spent much of their time in training the voices of the little singers, and that they spared no care or trouble in the task was fully manifested by the harmony and good time in which the young choristers sang. The children, numbering about 100, were assisted by the church choir and other ladies and gentlemen, whose voices gave depth and fulness to the chorus. Several duets and solos occur throughout the service, and one little lady with a sweet clear voice won no stint of praise for her singing of the solo assigned to her. The Rev. Geo. Middleton should have read the letterpress explanatory of the service, but through illness he was unable to do so, and his place was well filled by Mr. W. E. Toos. During the evening a collection was taken up in aid of the organ fund. At the conclusion of the service a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Neal, Miss Prince, the children, and the ladies and gentlemen who assisted them.

HOW SKIN DISEASES ARE CURED.—I will now state that I made a cure of one of the worst cases of skin disease known. The patient is a man 40 years old. Had suffered 15 years. His eyes, scalp, and nearly his whole body presented a frightful appearance. He had had the attention of 12 different physicians, who prescribed the best remedies known to the profession, such as iodide potassium, arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sarsaparilla, &c. Had paid 300 dollars for medical treatment with but little relief. I prevailed upon him to use the Cuticura Resolvent (blood purifier) internally, and the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap (the great skin cures) externally. He did so, and was completely cured. The skin on his head, face, and many other parts of his body, which presented a most loathsome appearance, is now as soft and smooth as an infant's, with no scar or trace of the disease left behind. He has now been cured 12 months. Reported by F. H. Brown, Esq., Barnwell, S. C. Reference, Dr. H. Baer, wholesale and retail druggist, Charleston, S. C. Cure sworn to at the British Consulate.—[ADVT.]

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Alderman O'CONNOR asked,—1. How long had the present town clerk been in the service of the council? 2. What salary had he received yearly during that time? 3. What was the total sum paid him during the time he had been an officer of the council.

The MAYOR replied,—1. 39 years and 2 months. 2. About £16,205.

CITY HEALTH OFFICER'S REPORT.

Dr. G. F. Dansey, the City Health Officer, submitted a report stating that typhoid fever had of late been very prevalent, and it appeared to be still spreading, not only in the city but also in the suburbs.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented:—By Alderman Jones, from residents in Neville-street, Marrickville, requesting that a water main might be laid down in that street. By Alderman Playfair, from residents in Lower Fort-street, asking that the assessment watering rate for 1882 might be remitted, as that street had not been watered during the year mentioned. By Alderman Beare, from a number of ratepayers, asking the council to take over certain lands (shown on a plan accompanying) at Elizabeth Bay. By Alderman Playfair, from a number of ratepayers in the South-west Ward, asking the council to lay water pipes to the various house properties situate in Merton-street, Balmain.

FINANCE.

The report of the finance committee, recommending the payment of sundry accounts, was adopted.

CHAIN OF OFFICE FOR THE MAYOR.

Alderman J. D. YOUNG moved,—"That in the opinion of this council, it is desirable that a chain of office should be worn by the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Sydney; and that a premium of ten pounds be offered for a suitable design for a chain and pendant, to be worked in gold."

Alderman J. YOUNG thought it was a most extraordinary thing for an alderman to bring forward such a motion. It led him to believe that some day the Mayor of the city would be seen walking into the council chambers with a cocked hat and sword. A chain of office would surely not cause the Mayor to perform his duties any better than hitherto. He had every regard for all forms and ceremonies when there was meaning in them, but he was unable to say that any good would result out of adopting the proposal made by Alderman J. D. Young, who was one of those gentlemen that set their faces against everything which was decent and orderly.

Alderman O'CONNOR held that the matter of procuring a chain of office for the Mayor would be completely out of harmony with present circumstances. Nothing would be more becoming, he admitted, than the Mayor wearing something indicating the high office which he occupied in presiding over a council that represented the intelligence and freedom of the city and the rights of its inhabitants. But he had important objections to the proposal. The present was a time of humility. The rights of the citizens had lately been winked at, and he would ask how such a proposal to embellish the Mayor could be put forward at this juncture. The Mayor ought instead to be dressed in sackcloth and ashes. To adorn the Mayor would be a mockery to the citizens, whose rights had been confiscated and taken away from them. The council should wait until the rights of the people had been restored to them. It would then be the proper time to obtain such a mark of distinction as proposed for the Mayor.

Alderman LEES said that the objections which Alderman O'Connor had taken to the motion were entirely of a personal character. He contended that a chain of office should be obtained, and the names of the past Mayors might be attached to the links. The chain would then serve the purpose of a mayoral record, which was not now kept by the council.

Alderman PLAYFAIR opposed the motion.

Alderman DEAN said he could not see that any necessity existed for a chain of office for the Mayor.

Alderman JONES supported the motion. He remarked that in Adelaide the Mayor of the city was presented with the mace, sceptre, loving cup, and bowl.

Alderman FOWLER expressed himself in favour of the motion.

The motion was at this stage put and a division was called for, with the result that the votes were even. The Mayor gave his casting vote against the motion, which was then declared lost.

SALT WATER BATHS.

Alderman GREEN moved,—"That this council considers it desirable that salt water baths should be provided in the city; and believing that several of the suburban boroughs would gladly join the city council in obtaining water from the sea coast for the purpose, the town clerk be instructed to invite the mayors of the several boroughs to a conference on the matter at the Town Hall on an early day."

The motion was agreed to.

Alderman GREEN then moved,—"That the city surveyor report as to the cost, &c., of providing and maintaining pumping power on the sea coast of sufficient capacity for supplying not less than one million gallons daily of salt water for baths, street watering, or such other purposes as may from time to time be thought necessary, together with cost of pipes for conveying same to the eastern boundary of the city."

The motion was agreed to.

TRANSFER TO THE CITY FUND.

Alderman BUTCHER moved,—"That a transfer be made to the city fund from the sewerage fund of the sum of £7050, being the amount deducted by the Government from the city endowment for interest paid on guaranteed sewerage debentures during the years 1880, 1881, and 1882."

The motion was agreed to.

THE CONTRACT FOR THE HOMEBUSH SALE YARDS.

Alderman JOHN YOUNG moved,—"That the report of the finance committee, recommending that the question of the infliction of penalties in connection with Messrs. Topham, Angus, and Co.'s contract for the construction of cattle sale yards, Homebush, be referred to arbitration for settlement, be adopted."

Alderman BUTCHER moved an amendment to the effect that the matter be left in the hands of the Mayor to settle.

Alderman O'CONNOR seconded the amendment.

The MAYOR asked the mover of the amendment to withdraw it, in view of the fact that he thought it might be rather a dangerous proceeding to allow the settlement of such a question to remain with one person alone.

Alderman BUTCHER refused to comply with the request, and the amendment on being put to the vote was carried.

NEW WORKS AND GENERAL BUSINESS.

Alderman PLAYFAIR moved,—1. "That the report of the finance committee, received this day, recommending that a bluestone crossing be laid in York-street, between Petty's Hotel and the Scots Church, at a cost of £40, be adopted." 2. "That the report of the sewerage committee, received this day, recommending that a 9-inch stoneware sewer be laid in Mill-lane, off Argyle-street, at a cost of £76, be adopted."

Alderman TAYLOR moved,—"That the portion of the resolution of council of 9th March last, ordering the collection of a street-watering rate for Kent-street, between Liverpool-street and Mann's Hotel, be and the same is hereby rescinded."

Alderman JOHN YOUNG moved,—"That the report of the finance committee, recommending that, with a view to expedite the formation of streets where retaining walls may be necessary, this council agrees to bear one-half the cost of such wall where it may be constructed for the double purpose of securing the street filling and of acting as a basement wall to a private building—provided that all such walls shall be built to the entire satisfaction of the city surveyor."

Alderman BUTCHER moved,—1. "That the report of the finance committee, recommending that the sum of £236 11s. be transferred from the sewerage fund to the city fund for paving and repairs to footways, lanes, gateways, &c., disturbed by the laying of sewers, be adopted." 2. "That the report of the sewerage committee, recommending that a 9-inch stoneware sewer be laid in Park-street, between Castlereagh and Elizabeth streets, at a cost of £37, be adopted."

Alderman TAYLOR moved,—1. "That, in accordance with the recommendation of the finance committee, specifications be prepared and tenders invited for the works of the great hall, viz.:—1st, for the erection of walls up to the ground floor; 2nd, for the whole of the superstructure, including finishing trades." 2. "That the report of the water committee, recommending that a water main be laid in Jane-street, Balmain, at a cost of £44, and in Nicholson-street, Balmain, at a cost of £129, be adopted."

Alderman KIPPAX moved,—1. "That the report of the lighting committee, recommending that a lamp be erected at the junction of Riley-place and Providence-place, be adopted." 2. "That the report of the sewerage committee, recommending that a 9-inch stoneware sewer be laid in Nithsdale-street, at a cost of £72, be adopted."

Alderman PLAYFAIR moved, "That in pursuance with the provisions of the 138th section of the Sydney Corporation Act of 1879, the Exhibition Building, Prince Alfred Park, be and the same is hereby licensed as a sale-yard for the sale of calves, lambs, pigs, milch cows, and horses."

Alderman PARKER moved,—"That the report of the lighting committee, recommending that a lamp be erected in Dowling-street, between Cook and Phelps streets, be adopted."

Alderman BEARE moved,—"That the report of the finance committee, recommending that Rockwall-street be metalled at a cost of £160, be adopted."

Alderman GREEN moved,—"That the report of the finance committee, recommending the issue of certain city plumbers' and drainers' licenses for the year 1883, be adopted."

Alderman CARTER moved,—1. "That the report of the sewerage committee, recommending, on petition, that a 12-inch stoneware sewer be laid in Levy-street, at a cost of £67, be adopted." 2. "That the report of the sewerage committee, recommending that an 18-inch stoneware sewer be laid from the intersection of George-street West with the Blackwattle Creek to the corner of Buckland-street, at a cost of £53, be adopted." 3. "That the report of the lighting committee, recommending that two lamps be erected in Belmore Park, be adopted."

Alderman BEARE moved,—"That, in accordance with the recommendation of the finance committee, the tender of Mr. Philip Ronan for forming and ballasting lanes on the Barncleuth Estate, on behalf of the proprietor, for the sum of £2100, be accepted."

Alderman FOWLER moved,—"That the report of the water committee, recommending that a water main be laid in Illawarra-road, Marrickville, at a cost of £349, be adopted."

Alderman GREEN moved,—"That the report of the water committee, recommending that the extension of water main in Renny-street, Paddington, at a cost of £101, be adopted."

Alderman KIPPAX moved,—"That the report of the water committee, recommending that a water main be laid in Middle-street, Marrickville, at a cost of £101, be adopted."

Questions:—1. Have any steps been taken to have all the reserves vested in the council?—No steps have yet been taken. 2. Is it a fact that the reserve in front of Fairlight is to be let to a private individual, for the purpose of erecting a pier or jetty? I am not aware that such is the case. 20th April, 1883. Special meeting. Present—The mayor (Mr. C. H. Hayes) in the chair, Messrs. Aldermen Austin, Barker, Lough, and Pitt. Negotiations had been opened up, but no satisfactory arrangement had yet been arrived at. Letter from Mr. H. Taylor, M.P., of Parramatta, complaining of charge made by Port Jackson S. S. Can any person have the ashes from the steamers that are stored near their pier for the cost of removing them? Yes. 3. Has the overseer of works seen the state of the East Esplanade wall, near the new pier, since the late rains? Yes; the matter shall receive attention. 4. Has the cutting to Cliff-street been attended to? Yes; instructions have been given for the work to be carried out at a cost not to exceed £10. Moved by Alderman Barker,—"That, in the opinion of this council, the collection of all licensing fees, dues, and fines payable by owners of vehicles plying within the limits of this municipality, by the transit commissioners in Sydney is unjust, and that the opinion of this council be transmitted to the Colonial Secretary, and that he be urged to obtain an alteration of the present position, so that the council may be enabled to exercise the powers vested in it under the Municipalities Act of 1867, and issue its own licenses and collect its own dues." The truly valuable lease of nine years to run (at a very low rental), license, furniture, &c., of that magnificent, noble structure known as the South Pacific Hotel, Woollahra, situate at the junction of Point Piper and Waverley roads, where all pedestrians must necessarily pass to the city or on pleasure bent. Consequently it must and does, all seasons of the year, command a large and lucrative trade from the elite of Sydney—Woollahra being the premier suburban aristocratic retreat, through the wonderful salubrious sea breeze, and the grand and delightful views. The accommodation of the hotel is all that could possibly be desired, and, under judicious management, must in a few years return a handsome competency to the fortunate buyer; so capitalists inspect this valuable property without delay.

THE PICK OF WAGGA WAGGA.

MILLS and PILE (in conjunction with Messrs. L. A. Fosbery and Co., of Wagga Wagga), have been instructed by A. G. Jones, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Australian Hotel, Wagga Wagga, on THURSDAY, May 10,

This splendid site, occupying the highest and best position in the town, has a frontage of 128 feet to Fitzmaurice-street by a depth of 264 feet, and is situated in the very centre of the business portion of the city. Immediately opposite are the post and telegraph offices, the courthouse, and new Commercial Bank buildings. On one side are the principal business houses of the town, the other being occupied by the site for the new Union Bank.
The Australian Hotel, which is admittedly one of the best between Sydney and Melbourne, is a brick structure, and contains 50 rooms besides billiard-room, coaching offices, two stock and station agents' offices, and the commodious premises occupied by the Union Bank.
A splendid range of brick stables has been lately erected at a cost of £1700, with accommodation for 34 horses, added to which are buggy houses, and ample shed room for the coaches, omnibuses, and vehicles that leave the establishment.

No. 2. THE GREEN VALE AND LIGHTHOUSE ESTATE AND HOMESTEAD.
This fine property embraces an area of 1450 acres, and is situate between Junee and Wagga Wagga, distant from the latter about 11 miles. It is in close proximity to the Great Southern line of railway, and is almost equi-distant from Melbourne and Sydney.
THE LAND, a large proportion of which has been cleared and cultivated, is immediately available for the agriculturalist.
THE SOIL is of the best description for wheat-growing, being of the same character as that of the famous Junee Flats, now so much sought after, and every acre of the estate is available for that purpose.
At Green Vale there is a good homestead, fruit and flower garden, with a splendid dam of permanent water; and on Lighthouse 5 tanks, giving never-failing water supply in various well-selected places.
The entire property is well and securely fenced, sheep-proof with post, rail, and wire, and is subdivided into several paddocks.

No. 3. THE BAILLIE PADDOCK.
This paddock, with an area of about 137 acres, within 2½ miles of the town, is almost entirely cleared, and consists of the richest agricultural and pasturage land. It is securely fenced by substantial post and rail, and is well watered by a large tank; and a paddock of about 20 acres, cleared and securely fenced, ready for cultivation.

No. 4. THE COTTAGE, TRAILL-STREET.
This property has a frontage to Traill-street of 66 feet by 330 feet in depth. Comfortable cottage of four rooms, detached kitchen, stable, coachhouse, outoffices; well of soft water.
An additional building has lately been erected with two lofty rooms, French lights, verandah (two sides).

For Unreserved Sale, to Close Partnership Accounts.

PITT, SON, and BADGERY have received instructions from Messrs. A. F. and J. R. Smart to sell by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, May 23, at half-past 2 o'clock,
The above well and favourably known fattening stations, situated on the Mehi River, between Moree and Millie, and comprising an area of about 120,000 acres of as fine fattening saltbush country as is to be found in New South Wales.
